Governor Rushes Troopers

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (UPI)—Governor George Wallace rushed state troopers into Huntsville and Mobile yesterday in an apparent attempt to plug threatened breaks in the school segregation dike in those cities today.

Negroes simultaneously sued for the reopening of three desegregated Birmingham schools closed because of rioting.

At least five state trooper cars rolled into Huntsville, and a contingent of about 150 troopers arrived at Mobile.

Mrs. Constance Baker Motley, chief attorney for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, filed suit asking that the three Birmingham schools be re-opened.

Premier Bennett said yesterday the split-up of the national Social Credit party will be forerunner of similar predicaments in other federal parties.

Election Timing Bad

Bennett Fights for Political Life

By TERRY HAMMOND
Colonist Legislative Reporter

Premier Bennett is fighting for his political life.

He faces his fifth general election as party leader with practically nothing going for him of basic grassroots appeal.

The election timing is awry—forced on him by the delicate state of negotiations with the U.S. over the price to be paid for B.C.'s downstream Columbia River power. Traditionally an election follows a legislative session designed to set the stage for it.

The massive road construction programs which lit the fuse of victory for the Bennett government in 1956 and 1960 are drawing to a close. Much of the lustre of sleek, new, blacktop is wearing off.

So far, the vast hydro projects in progress or on the drawing board have failed to kindle a spark across a broad segment of the electoral spectrum. Most people relate power to the wall-switch and are no longer enthralled when the light comes on. In any case, the power controversy has so clouded the issues that only a small percentage of the electorate holds firm beliefs either pro or con.

The ever-expanding ferry service is of purely regional interest and much of its novelty is gone.

A major blueprint for expansion of higher education facilities is comprehensive but it is still little more than a blueprint and against its potential popularity must be weighed the criticism that the government has short-changed UBC to the extent that its effectiveness is threatened.

The Left judgment on the B.C. expropriation hardly improved the government's image, although it probably did less harm than some opposition party leaders seem to believe. One of the greatest handi-

Sleeping Sickness Kills and Spreads

CALGARY, Alta. (UPI)—An unidentified woman died in Calgary General Hospital of encephalitis Thursday night, and a four-year-old boy has been stricken with symptoms of the disease.

A Regina dentist died of a disease similar to equine encephalitis and at least six children in Saskatchewan, two more persons in Alberta and four in North Dakota are believed to have the disease.

Dr. Francis, who declined to give the woman's name, said she was admitted to hospital nine days ago complaining of flu, a headache and a sore back.

He said the woman had not been away from Calgary for some time. The disease, which is in the Dr. Francis region, about 70 miles northeast of here.

Earlier it was reported a four-year-old boy had come down with what was suspected to be sleeping sickness in the Brooks, Alta., area—100 miles northeast of here and about 75 miles from Hanna—where a farmer has been in hospital with the disease.

It was reported last week that 50 persons throughout Saskatchewan have been hospitalized for symptoms similar to those of sleeping sickness.

Hit-Run Death MOTORIST SURRENDERS

By BOB PETHICK

A voluntary phone call shortly after 12:30 p.m. yesterday ended a vast search for the driver of a car believed responsible for the hit-and-run death of Mrs. Anna Nelson, 470 Thetis Crescent, early Wednesday.

Mrs. Nelson was hit by a car on the Trans-Canada Highway at about 12:30 a.m. She died instantly.

The body of the mother of five children was knocked into a 20-foot ditch between Tillamook and Burnside and was found by Saanich police Corp. Robert Peterson about 4:30 a.m. after a truck driver spotted personal effects scattered for about 150 feet along the highway.

Yesterday's telephone call was received by Saanich Det.

Christine Keeler Arrested

LONDON (UPI)—Christine Keeler, 21-year-old red-head whose testimony helped convict Dr. Stephen Ward of vice charges in a sex-and-security scandal that rocked the British government, was arrested Thursday night on charges of perjury and obstructing the course of justice.

Miss Keeler's long-time friend, Paula Hamilton-Marshall, and Miss Marshall's housekeeper, Mrs. Olive Brooker, were booked on the same charges.

Mrs. Brooker was carrying a 16-month-old baby identified as Miss Hamilton-Marshall's daughter. The infant was taken to a children's home.

Police said the women were arrested in connection with the case of Christine's former lover, Aloysius (Lucky) Gordon, 31-year-old Jamaican jazz singer, who was sentenced to three years for beating up Miss Keeler and then freed after an appeal.

De Gaulle Out to Crush U.S. Power in Viet Nam

Diem Is Boss

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP)—President Ngo Dinh Diem and his hollow-cheeked younger brother, Ngo Dinh Nhu, told reporters in separate interviews Thursday that Diem is the boss.

Both the 62-year-old chief executive and his brother, the secret police chief whose petite wife is the president's official hostess, denied Nhu controlled the government. Each said Nhu has no political ambitions.

Both expressed hope for a quick return to normal from South Viet Nam's political-religious crisis. Both forecast an improvement in the strained relations between Viet Nam and the United States, its ally in a war against Communist guerrillas.

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York Times reports from Saigon that the French have been playing a major anti-American role since President de Gaulle offered last week to help South Viet Nam end foreign influence.

De Gaulle's offer was reported to have received a highly favorable response from Ngo Dinh Nhu, brother and adviser to President Ngo Dinh Diem, the Times says.

SOFTEN CRITICISM
The Times quotes a senior diplomat as saying French Ambassador Roger Lalouette approached other Western embassies to join in an effort to persuade U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge to soften U.S. criticism of Diem's government.

RE-ENTAILISM
"Diplomats say that the purpose of Gen. de Gaulle's intervention is to end United States influence in Viet Nam, to find a means of conciliation between the Communist-ruled north and the non-Communist south and to re-establish the influence once enjoyed by France in all of Viet Nam," the dispatch continues.

Communists Trade Punches

TOKYO (CP)—Communist China has accused the Soviet Union of marshalling tens of thousands of Chinese for a political Trojan horse uprising aimed at overthrowing a Chinese district government in Sinkiang province on Russia's central Asian border.

The Chinese reported the alleged plot in broadcasts today which also said the Soviet Union's actions have brought relations between the two countries "to the brink of split."

In Moscow, the Soviet press yesterday denounced the "ultra-revolutionary" and "militant" policies of Communist China while the Kremlin was reported studying a protest from Peking over a student demonstration at the Chinese embassy in Moscow.

Fighting for Life

caps under which the government must labor during its campaign is the waning yardstick of comparison with previous administrations.

Social Credit's quite astounding leap to power, in 1952-53 was an integral part of the process of public reaction against Liberal-Tory rule. Fed up with the Grits and the Tories, the electorate went to the polls in 1953 with the real or imagined shortcomings of previous administrations uppermost in its collective mind.

Even in 1956, and to a lesser degree in 1960, the memories lingered on and were taken to the voting booth.

But with each new election the number of voters who can remember previous administrations with anything akin to clarity diminishes.

A new crop of voters comes along each year and each successive crop is larger than the one before.

Tens of thousands of voters who will be eligible on Sept. 30 have nothing to compare Social Credit with on the provincial scene. Thousands more who voted against the Grits and Tories in 1952-53 have lost the sharp taste of their dissatisfactions.

But there is a plus side to the government's election ledger and on it is an extremely important economy—a factor whose public impact is always difficult to assess.

After a recession a buoyant economy can be a passport to political survival.

But unlike many of the provinces, B.C. has enjoyed a relatively healthy economy ever since the immediate postwar period. It has shown more-or-less continuous growth punctuated by booms and booms.

Undoubtedly the government can take a major share of the credit for the current economic surge but some Social Credit strategists feel prosperity has become a way of life in B.C.—acknowledged but unattributed. Something the public expects but does not express gratitude for.

No government goes to the people without the hope that it will earn top marks for its accomplishments, and probably no government in B.C. has ever accomplished so much as the present one. Certainly none has spent more money.

But there is still a feeling, and it may be a growing one, that the Social Credit government is long on expenditures for things, short on expenditures for people.

The NDP's "You-catch-it-we'll-cure-it" medicare plan is calculated to make capital of this.

The government is aware of its tarnished image in the field of the humanities, hence the creation of three new universities, new emphasis on rising expenditures for public schools, belated acceptance of the need for more vocational schools.

Probably Premier Bennett's greatest asset during these days before he unveils the Social Credit manifesto is a refrain which has been a theme song in B.C. politics for decades—"vote for us or you vote for socialism."

Hansen was released on $500 bail.

He told the court he had just returned to Victoria after living in Vancouver for five years.

He requested at least a week to consider his plea.

Magistrate William Ostler granted the request and set bail at $500 with one surety.

The car came on the heels of a Daily Colonist story yesterday morning in which Saanich Police Chief W. A. Pearson appealed to the driver to give himself up.

The car police impounded yesterday matches to the letter the description compiled by detectives by using particles of headlight glass and paint samples gathered at the scene of the accident.

The car was painted green and white with a smashed headlight on the right hand side and damage to the top of the right fender.

A headlight similar to the headlight on the impounded car was depicted in a picture appearing in the Colonist yesterday morning with investigating Detective George Walton and Det. Sgt. Armstrong.

"We appreciate the long hours put in by the detectives and men of the uniform branch. We especially wish to thank the members of the press for their whole-hearted co-operation in this investigation," said Saanich Deputy Police Chief John Hamilton.

He said as a result of the widespread publicity police received many phone calls from people who knew of a car similar to the car described.

"We appreciate the public's co-operation," said Deputy Hamilton.

Earlier in the day before receiving the phone call police considered the possibility Mrs. Neilson was hitchhiking home.

Autopsy results disclosed she had been facing the car when she was hit.

GIVEN LIFT

Police believe she was given a lift to the point where Douglas Street splits into the Patricia Bay Highway and the Trans-Canada Highway.

A motorist saw her strolling on the gravel shoulder of the road shortly before she was hit. She was seen a little east of Tillicum.

Mrs. Neilson recently took a job as a waitress in the Colonial Inn and was met by her husband, AB Charles Neilson of HMC Venture after work.

The couple had drinks, then went to a restaurant. After a misunderstanding Mr. Neilson went along for a nightcap leaving the keys to the family car with his wife. Presumably Mrs. Neilson started walking home.

Martin Arrives To Talk Power

WASHINGTON (CP)—External Affairs Minister Paul Martin arrived here Thursday night to begin two days of crucial negotiations with the United States on the Columbia River power treaty.

He told reporters at the airport that he was "very optimistic" about the outcome of the negotiations and said the substantial issue now is the question of what price the U.S. will pay for Canada's share of power to be developed from the multi-million-dollar project.

"We are making steady progress but I do not think we are near the end of the negotiations," Martin added.

In addition to Columbia negotiations, Martin will have talks Saturday with State Secretary Dean Rusk about the agenda of the United Nations General Assembly which opens Sept. 17 and "one or two other matters which I wish to raise."

He declined to say what these Canadian issues will be but in reply to a question said he doubted there would be any major change in Canadian policy at the UN.

treasurer in Saskatchewan who now heads Saskatchewan's royal commission on taxation.

Dean McLeod questioned whether the "inquisitorial machinery" of a royal commission is the best way to conduct a management survey of government efficiency.

ATTACKS BASIS

Tearing into the report itself, he criticized the basic premise of the entire study—the apparent assumption that government is burdensome and restrictive.

therefore a necessary evil that must be restrained while private business is strengthened.

"I cannot see that the proposition has any fundamental relevance to a study of administrative practice or to this report, other than to prejudice sentiment in favor of the acceptance of certain recommendations which should, in any event, be justified on other grounds."

SELF EVIDENT

The dean said the report is strewn with implied assumptions given as self-evident facts.

"The commission in its efforts gave little thought to the possibilities of pushing forward the frontiers of administrative theory. If anything, the commissioners would appear to be somewhat mistrustful of theory, and a rigorous theoretical approach is eschewed in favor of a pragmatic one."

FOUND HEALTHY

Quoting from the final volume of the report, he noted that the commissioners found the government to be a "healthy, mature organism that, for all its apparent untidiness, is functioning with relative efficiency."

Dean McLeod said this statement hits the reader "after having wandered for four full volumes through the wasteland of criticism and after having been informed in the opening stanzas of this saga that the existing system is 'costly, frustrating and unproductive' in character."

"At this stage," he commented, "one cannot be certain whether the commission is trying to justify government or itself."

UN 'Won't Back' Field Missions

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI)—The magistrate fired army Swedish Maj.-Gen. Carl Von Horn charged Thursday the United Nations failed to support its missions in the field and said the whole field of operations system needs an "agonizing reappraisal."

In an exclusive interview, Van Horn said bluntly his resignation as chief of the UN observer mission in the Yemen last week was a protest against the New York headquarters' failure to heed his recommendations.

PEKING (CP-Reuters)—Chinese Communist organs claimed Russia was about to capitulate to the West during the 1956 Hungarian revolt but Chinese pressure forced Russia to suppress the revolt.

The claim was made in an article jointly prepared by the editorial staff of The People's Daily and the Journal Red Flag, both organs of the central committee of the Chinese Communist party. The article was quoted by the New China News Agency.

BERLIN (UPI)—The Western allies, in a note to the Russian ambassador to East Germany, have vetoed a plan to extend Soviet influence in West Berlin by opening a Russian centre here.

The American, British and French ambassadors told Ambassador Piotr Abramson the centre would be contrary to the interests of West Berlin, a Western allied administration said.

DAR ES SALAAM, Tanganyika (AP)—Three women who helped a pack of witches slaughter a woman two years ago at Utete, Central Tanganyika, have had their appeals against conviction and sentence of death for murder dismissed.

The Court of Appeal of Eastern Africa dismissed the appeals of Hadija Saidi, Zainab Athumani and Zaidi Abdou, who were called "student witches."

Surgeons Restore Severed Arm's Use

DALLAS (AP)—Surgeons at Methodist Hospital have restored function in the nearly severed arm of a policeman hurt last week as the result of a prank fire call which claimed three lives.

Louie B. Kirkpatrick, 33, of Grand Prairie had his arm nearly sliced from his body when a police car and fire truck collided.

The big brachial artery in the upper arm was severed. The return brachial veins also were cut. Two of the three nerves controlling the arm—the median and ulnar nerves—were gone. The triceps muscle at the back of the arm was sliced apart.

In a 4½-hour operation that almost amounted to a complete transplant, all of the arteries, nerves, veins and tissues were reknitted.

Kirkpatrick can wiggle his hands and fingers and the pulse in the damaged limb is stronger than in the unharmed arm. He is on his way to getting well.

The magistrate fired army Sgt. William Walker, 36, $30 for driving without due care and attention but said the charge didn't warrant revoking his licence.

"All right," said Walker. "If you won't take it away, I'll go to the police and hand it in." Police said they would take in the driving licence.

ZURICH, Switzerland (UPI)—Search crews have recovered what is believed to be the flight-recorder from the Swiss-air Caravelle jetliner which crashed near here killing all 80 persons aboard.

One-fifth of the entire population of the village of Humlikon died in the crash, leaving 48 children orphaned. A national funeral service was set for Saturday. Services for the Humlikon victims will be held Monday.

PARIS (AP)—The French government protested against what it called systematic campaign by the Australian, New Zealand, Chilean and Peruvian governments against the prospect of French nuclear testing in the South Pacific.

Responsible sources said the French ambassadors to the four governments had warned that a continuation of "such a discriminatory attitude toward France" could threaten friendly relations with France.

VENLO (Reuters)—Dutch railway workers who heard knocking from inside a freight car opened it Thursday and found inside a 25-year-old East German farmhand who had fled to the West.

SAIGON (UPI)—The United States has decided against pressing demands that South Vietnamese President Ngo Dinh Diem drop his brother and chief political adviser now facing sharp reductions in U.S. aid, high-ranking diplomatic sources said today.

PRETORIA, South Africa (Reuters)—Premier Hendrik Verwoerd has denied he made an offer to take over the administration of the British protectorates of Bechuanaland, Basutoland and Swaziland.

Disease Kills Second Child

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP)—One more child has died from gastro enteritis, and there is no definite sign the province's epidemic is letting up, a health department spokesman said Thursday.

Chief Medical Health Officer Dr. David Severs said the single death during the week brought the toll for the year to 58. All were infants less than a year old.

Not long ago such an injury would have required amputation, or a dead limb would have hung inactive at the victim's side.

For Kirkpatrick, the father of three, the surgery means that some day he may be able to use his left arm as well as before. He is left-handed.

U.S. Fish Bill Given Backing

WASHINGTON (AP)—Members of Congress from coastal states gave strong endorsement Thursday to a bill to prohibit fishing in U.S. territorial waters except by U.S. citizens.

Senator Edward M. Kennedy, (D-Mass.) a co-sponsor and lead-off witness before a Senate commerce subcommittee considering the measure, said present laws are an open invitation to violation of U.S. waters.

NDP Seeks More Funds

VANCOUVER (CP)—The New Democratic Party will seek financial support from trade unions and party organizations in other provinces to help pay the cost of its Sept. 30 British Columbia election campaign.

Ernest Hall, NDP executive secretary for B.C., said in a speech to a nominating convention the campaign will be the most expensive the NDP has ever had.

"It will be necessary to draw money from NDP organizations in other provinces and in donations from trade unions to make campaign expenses," Some constituency associations were broke and others were in debt.

Plain Talk

by Davie Fulton

A NEW BROOM

SALMON ARM—Mr. Bennett has been Premier 11 years. He first took that office at a time when our provincial affairs were in confusion. Looking back to the events of that time, it was perhaps good that his new broom was elected.

We have since seen three Mr. Bennetts. The first, the Mr. Bennett of 1952, seemed a man of honor, honesty and reform. That man is no more. The Premier has violated our constitution; his word is no longer relied on.

The second Mr. Bennett seemed the guardian of free enterprise. He promised to keep "hands off" B.C. Electric. He promised to bring investment. That man has disappeared. B.C. Electric is seized. Investment is frightened away.

Today we have the last Mr. Bennett. His only claim now is that "he gets things done." True, he gets some things done. But are they things we want? Do we want seizure of industry? Do we want investment scared away? Do we want this fantastic confusion of power policies?

And what about the things he doesn't get done? What about improvements in education? What about development of industry and jobs? What about tax relief?

It would seem that the big problems of British Columbia are too big for Mr. Bennett and his "little government." He doesn't solve our problems; he creates new ones. Our Provincial affairs are again in confusion.

It is time to change to a government able to handle these big problems. Some of the best men in this province have joined my campaign for good government. We can do what must be done. After 11 years, B.C. needs another new broom.

Panic Unnecessary Over Pesticide Use

OTTAWA (CP)—There is no need to panic yet in Canada about the growing use of pesticides, a member of a symposium said Thursday.

But scientists should be looking to something better and the chemical pesticide will never be anything but a palliative whose use so far is crude and imprecise, said another.

A third said some restrictions may have to be placed on the free choice of available pesticides but, in a situation where responsibility was heavy on the decision makers, was it necessary so go as far in this direction as New Zealand had done?

The discussion covered strategy and tactics of insect control as part of the third day of the Canadian Centenary Entomology Conference attended by 450 persons.

Abortion Motion Shelved

BANFF, Alta. (CP)—A motion favoring more liberal abortion laws was shelved for one year Thursday by the criminal justice section of the Canadian Bar Association after a sharp three-hour debate which brought up religious and moral objections.

Decision to table the motion was approved 7 to 11 after Harvey E. McQuiloch of Hamilton said time was needed by provincial subsections to review suggestions for wider grounds for legal abortion.

HEATED EXCHANGE John Scollin of Winnipeg suggested in a heated exchange that proponents of the resolution may have attempted to "stack" the meeting in an attempt to get the motion approved.

The remark was withdrawn after objections by Stewart McMorran of Vancouver who said lawyers, not members of the section and known opponents of the proposal, were invited to insure all sides had a fair hearing. Mr. McMorran sponsored the resolution.

Among these was Bruce E. Emerson of Vancouver, president of the B.C. Catholic Lawyer's Guild, who made an emotional plea to have the resolution thrown out.

School Dash Fatal To Youngster

HAZELTON (CP)—Six-year-old Darlene Wilson longed to go to school—but her enthusiasm cost Darlene her life Thursday.

The little girl jumped out of her father's truck near Two Mile School and ran across the road into the path of a car. She died 20 minutes later.

Friends of the family said Darlene talked about school all summer and was very excited Tuesday when she attended school for the first time.

Model Wins Title Despite Voting

LONDON (CP)—Miss United Kingdom of 1963 may have to surrender her crown.

Diane Westbury, 19, a fashion model, won the title, worth £1,000 and a place in the next Miss World contest in Blackpool Tuesday night. Her real name is Diane Hickingbotham.

Three of the four judges, entertainers David Whitfield, Lonnie Donegan and Max Bygraves, later said they had not voted for her. Whitfield and Donegan said they voted for 19-year-old runner-up Maureen Gay. Bygraves said he voted for 19-year-old Sylvia Sidney, who ran third in the field of 36.

The fourth judge, contest organizer Eric Morley, said Miss Westbury "got my vote and Max Bygraves changed his mind to make Diane his first choice."

"Since no girl had an outright majority, I exercised my casting vote as chairman in favor of Diane," he said.

Bygraves said he couldn't remember changing his mind.

Morley said he was prepared to call for a playoff between

Ottawa's New Pension Plan Will Cover Every Worker

Maximum Rate $175 Couple Can Get $350

Every Canadian worker will be covered under the new Ottawa plan for a comprehensive, national pension program that will be portable from job to job. Since the plan was first announced, more and more details have become available from Ottawa, finally giving a clear picture of the proposed plan.

Today, the Colonist presents the proposal as background to legislation vital to virtually every Canadian.

Under the plan, two per cent of an employee's annual pensionable pay will go into the fund: one per cent by the worker; one per cent by the employer.

For a man earning $4,000 (the maximum for pension purposes) the cost to him would be $40 a year; for $3,000, $30 a year, and so on.

You can collect the pension any time after reaching 65; there is no means test, but the pension will be less than the maximum if taken before age 70.

Pension benefits line up like this: For the person paying on the maximum of $4,000, the pension would be $100 at age 70, PLUS the flat-rate $75 pension, for a total of $175 per month. A wife's pension, depending on whether or not she was employed, could bring the combined total to $350 (if not employed) or a maxium of $350 (if employed at $4,000 per year).

Payments scale down according to income over the years. For example, a man who pays on $3,600 will get $90 plus $75 for a total of $165. If a man elects to draw his pension at 65, it will be 2.5 per cent less than the full pension. A man paying on $4,000 would get $115 instead of $175. It is figured on a small amount for each month between the voluntary retirement age and age 70.

The federal plan will build up over 10 years. In 1966, anyone retiring at 70 will receive $10 a month, plus the $75 old-age pension. In 1967, $20 plus $75; in 1968, $30 plus, until 1975 when it will be $100, plus $75.

The pensions will be portable anywhere in Canada. Thus a man moving from British Columbia to Newfoundland to a totally new job in a new industry, would not be affected in any way, except where a change in pay or salary could increase or decrease the pension.

Workers will pay in from age 18, or whenever they begin to work, until retirement.

All monies paid in by workers and employers will go to the federal government, which will use the funds to pay current expenses on a pay-as-you-go basis—that is, no huge sinking funds will be set up.

Payments will be deductible for income tax purposes, as they now are under private and industrial plans.

The plan can grow over the years, depending mainly on the economy of the nation. The current maximums are based on an average wage of $4,000 a year. If this goes up, the maximum could be increased, thus increasing the return to the worker. Or the contributions could be increased on the same average wage of $4,000. However, even at a normal growth rate, costs are expected to climb. Government estimates are that costs may hit five per cent of wages by the year 2000. Independent guesses are even higher.

A widow also will benefit under the new plan, an important consideration. She would get her own flat $75, plus 60 per cent of her husband's contributory pension. Thus, if the husband's pension were $100, the widow would receive a total of $135 a month.

Supplementary plans are allowed. Company plans can be operated to provide supplementary pensions.

BACKGROUND

Soviet's Education System Meets the Needs of State

By DR. KATHLEEN MILLERENSHAW

An unimposing stone-faced building, a heavy door and then, just inside a dark entrance hall, a "shrine" . . . we were entering Vocational Technical School Number One in Moscow.

The shrine, the director explained later, is the focal point of the school. It is lined with trophies and prize-lists and topped by the ubiquitous portrait of Lenin. The Red Flag stands in the centre guarded by a privileged pupil.

A week later, as we went into the entrance hall of a new school in Leningrad, we were faced, on the wall, with an elaborately embossed creed—the code of conduct pupils have to learn and recite.

In a place of honor in these same schools we saw a dozen or so photographs with citations displayed in a framed merit board. The photographs were of the schools' star pupils.

The merit board was a feature of all the Russian schools we saw and a teacher whose record was outstanding was also included on one. Ubiquitous, too, was the list of laggards, pinned to school notice-boards for all to see.

Our interpreter unblushingly remarked: "They are given the works"—presumably by their fellow pupils.

The merit boards provide a strong incentive for teachers as well as for pupils. Teachers are paid a bonus for the examination successes of the young people in their charge, and, in reverse, pupils' failures influence inspectors' reports on individual teachers. Excessive failures can cause teachers to be demoted or even to lose their jobs.

These are some of the symbols of the motive force of Soviet education. Here a religion—Marxism-Leninism—is combined with material incentives and a deeply embedded ideological fervor to form an education system skillfully tailored to meet the needs of the state.

In a country where the demands of the state override everything, manpower planning—even with a population approaching 220,000,000—becomes merely a matter of logistics. State ownership and control over the purse make planning still more precise.

In theory, the 15 separate republics of the USSR have full legislative powers; there are separate ministries of education for general school education.

In practice, all schools, together with timetables, curricula, textbooks, teaching methods and standards, are controlled by the ministry of education in Moscow. For higher and specialized secondary education there is one central ministry only.

Compulsory full-time education begins at seven. In 1958

Khrushchev recast the system, bringing a new emphasis to practical work in factories, mines, farms, building or public services as a required ingredient of all secondary education.

The seven-year compulsory incomplete secondary education and the 10-year complete secondary education are now being replaced by eight-year and 11-year courses.

With certain exceptions students may not enter higher education until they have had one-and-a-half to two years' full-time employment—perhaps in office, farm or factory—as well as having a certificate of completed secondary education.

Promotion each year is dependent on a pass mark and is not automatic with age. A recent development, now going strongly ahead, is in special schools for those who show exceptional academic talent. Places are competed for at about the age of 12.

Exceptions are also made for those with special talent for art, music or ballet. French schools and English schools are also proving popular where selected children from the age of seven have all lessons in the chosen language.

At 15 or 16 about half of the pupils are siphoned off from the main stream of secondary education into vocational technical schools. These schools are directly associated with a particular enterprise.

About half of all pupils in the vocational schools join

The Russian school system recently was given extensive study by a group of specialists from the British Association for Commercial and Industrial Education. Here, a delegate reports on the findings.

evening courses to gain the certificate of completed secondary education.

This careful channelling of future craftsmen and technicians into distinct occupations is the foundation of the new economy. There is nothing haphazard; recruitment is not affected by bombs and slumps, by adolescent fashions, parental preferences or other variable factors.

Children are expected to do a prodigious amount of homework and there is probably a good deal of overwork and strain.

Pupils have to clean their own classrooms, workshops and equipment—even coming in on Sundays to scrub floors and clean windows—and are awarded merit marks for this. Participation in inventors' clubs, hobby clubs and other out-of-school activities is virtually compulsory.

Among the few students permitted to proceed directly to higher education from school without time spent in employment, the majority are mathematicians and physicists; the Russian planners are too rational to waste available mathematical ability in routine production.

The universities have no monopoly of prestige in Russia. Only one-sixth of higher education graduates are the products of universities as such, and of these one-half are mathematicians or pure and applied scientists.

All the major technologies—as also agriculture, medicine, architecture, most advanced foreign language courses, training for social planners, economists or accountants—are provided in separate specialized institutes.

All teaching appointments in Russia are subject to review every five years. An army of inspectors is ready to descend without warning on any lecture or classroom. Teachers have no freedom to experiment with syllabuses or methods, but they are given real incentive (promotion or cash) to make suggestions for improvements.

Germans Eye U.K. Jet Engine

By IAN COULTER

LONDON—West Germany is considering buying for its vertical-take-off planes a British aircraft engine which has been cocooned for more than a year because there is no place for it in British aviation development.

The Bristol Siddley 75, on which at least $5,500,000 has been spent, is being offered outright to Konrad Adenauer's aviation experts.

The Germans could use the engine in three vertical-take-off projects, the Focke-Wulf 1262, a subsonic fighter; the Dornier 31, a tactical transporter, and their principal VTO experimental project, the VJ101.

New Feeder For the Birds

VANCOUVER (CP)—It's for the birds—at least the food to be dispensed from Stanley Park's new bird feeder will be. The park board will test a scheme to sell food to the public and let them feed the birds. People will be able to buy grain from dispensers to be installed in the park, and the board hopes to cut down its feeding costs.

City Teacher 'Persecuted'

A contentious Victoria school teacher has alleged a school board official and provincial education officials have subjected him to "sadistic persecution," culminating in a complete change in his professional duties.

The charge has been levelled by Geoffrey D'Arcy, 1321 Vimy, in a 13-page brief submitted to Deputy Education Minister J. F. K. English.

It marks the third time Mr. D'Arcy has been at odds with education officials in the past nine years. He was fired by Greater Victoria school board in 1955 for alleged insubordination but was reinstated by the provincial cabinet after a hearing.

He was again fired by the school board in 1961 because he allegedly failed to stick to the curriculum but was again reinstated after a hearing.

Last night he told The Daily Colonist that after 27 years' experience as a technical teacher, he has been assigned to teach academic subjects. He said the decision followed a period of some two years in which his classroom was inspected by officials 25 or 26 times.

"An experienced teacher like myself might have no inspection in two years normally, or he might have two inspections in a year at the most," he said.

Mr. D'Arcy claimed the inspections affected his health. In his brief to Dr. English, Mr. D'Arcy called for a complete public inquiry into the actions of the education officials and the administration of Greater Victoria school board and the technical education division of the education department.

All Nearly Ready For Sooke Fair

Exhibitors will be arranging their entries in the Sooke community hall tonight, in readiness for Saturday's Sooke Fair.

Although it is one of the smallest annual fairs in the Greater Victoria area, it is unique in that the only persons who can exhibit there are those who live between Kangaroo Road and Port Renfrew.

CLOSED FAIR

It has been in operation, off and on, from the year 1913, and is one of the few "closed" fairs held in the province today.

The fair will be open from 1 to 9 p.m., and will be officially opened at 2 p.m. by G. L. Landon of the provincial department of agriculture, who is also president of the Canadian Council on 4-H Clubs.

A children's pet parade will be held at 2 p.m., and afternoon tea will be served by the Sooke and North Sooke Women's Institute members.

The dining room will double as a showroom for paintings done by artists living in the Sooke area. A demonstration of pottery-making will be given by Mrs. C. G. White.

Prizes will be awarded at 8 p.m., after which Pat Welsh, past chairman of the fair committee, will auction any exhibits which are left for that purpose. Eric Butler is chairman of this year's fair committee.

Ferry Hours of Work 'Disgrace to Province'

PORT ALBERNI — Charges that hours worked by B.C. Government Ferry employees are not only in violation of the provincial Hours of Work Act, but create "a shameful situation and a disgrace to this province," were levelled yesterday by Maurice Corbell, financial secretary of Local 1-85 IWA here.

He was commenting on the dispute between employees and the B.C. Government Toll Authority which resulted in a tie-up of services on the Departure Bay-Horseshoe Bay run on Tuesday.

Mr. Corbell pointed out recent reports on working time put in by ferry employees indicated they are required to work as many as 43 days with only three days off.

He added the officers of his local were in complete sympathy with the employees of the government ferry system.

Touchy Topic

NANAIMO — A closed meeting of the B.C. Government Employees' Association was held Thursday.

Unrest among B.C. ferry workers was the topic of the meeting and as was later stated by one of its members "it's a very touchy business and the boys are really cheesed off with the whole dirty mess."

NANAIMO — A 64-year-old eagle mysteriously flew the coop at the Eagle's Lodge here recently.

The stuffed bird, weighing 20 pounds, with a wingspread of 30 inches, was believed taken by pranksters. The lock on its storage place was discovered broken.

Teacher-Farmer Chosen In Cowichan-Newcastle

DUNCAN — Cyril Craig, a Canadian Legion Cowichan Branch member.

In an interview Mr. Craig said he was against Premier Bennett's policy of selected neglect. "Premier Bennett's strength has been in Opposition Leader Strachan's weakness," he said.

He said the premier's "two river policy" could lead the province into bankruptcy and called on the voters to elect Davis Fulton "in order to give the younger generation of the province a responsible government as their legacy."

Mr. Craig is married and has four children. He was educated at McGill and UBC. He is a science and mathematics teacher and owns a farm and a herd of registered highland cattle.

'Negligence' Caused Own Death

A coroner's jury ruled Thursday that a traffic accident in which a 20-year-old man was fatally injured was caused by "his own negligence."

Harold Thomas Ford, 20, of 1151 Colville, a typewriter mechanic, died in Royal Jubilee Hospital Monday night from a ruptured liver after his car hit a parked pickup truck and tumbled down a 25-foot embankment on the Trans-Canada Highway near Helmcken early Sunday.

Two Victoria couples in the car were treated at hospital. Witnesses said Mr. Ford was driving when his car hit the rear of the truck and catapulted over the bank, taking the truck with it.

Richard Pearson, 17, of 1235 Hastings, said he had parked off the highway while he checked a faulty tire.

Up-Island Campaign

PORT ALBERNI — John Squire, member for the constituency since 1962, received the unanimous support of the nomination convention of Alberni NDP.

In his address to the meeting, he reviewed the district's acquisition of roads and parks over the past 10 years, referring to picnic and camp sites at Sprout Lake, Alberni-Tofino road, the Bamfield road now nearing completion and the Long Beach camping grounds.

He said if he is re-elected he will continue to press for park reserves in various sections of the constituency.

Mr. Squire called for an end to "the medicare farce" and declared that all citizens, regardless of income, should have complete coverage.

DUNCAN — The provincial election heat is on at Duncan and so far two Liberals, George Whittaker and Archie Stevenson, have definite plans to run for the Cowichan-Newcastle seat if nominated at the respective party conventions.

North Cowichan Reeve Donald Morton will give "serious consideration" to running as a Socred candidate.

An NDP candidate has not yet been announced, but it is likely that incumbent MLA Robert Strachan, who has held the seat for several years, will be the choice.

Nomination conventions will be held here: NDP, Saturday, at 8 p.m., at the Knight of Pythias hall; Socred, Saturday, at 8 p.m., at the Guide Hall; Liberals, Tuesday, at 8 p.m., at the Cowichan Agricultural Hall.

COURTENAY — Socreds will nominate a candidate for the provincial election here, Saturday, with Dan Campbell, incumbents expected to get the nomination. The NDP will nominate Sunday.

Less than an hour later he was once again picked up, driving in the same condition.

Meanwhile, rookie Gary Peters won his 17th for Chicago, 4-1, over Kansas City on a five-hitter. Minnesota dropped to third by losing, 8-5, to Los Angeles Angels, and Detroit Tigers won their 16th game in 21 starts, beating Boston Red Sox, 5-2.

HINTON BEATEN

Washington outfielder Chuck Hinton was hospitalized after being hit by a ball thrown by Ralph Terry. Although the ball hit below the area protected by his plastic helmet he did not lose consciousness. X-rays were taken and Hinton was held overnight for observation.

Peters, who still has room to become a 20-game winner, did his bit for victory No. 17 for the Sox, driving in two runs with a triple and a sacrifice fly. Joe Cunningham added two doubles and a single.

U.S. Holds Slim Lead In International Golf

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP)—The United States' army of experienced amateurs golfers squeaked to a narrow 1½-point margin over Canada in the first half of the biennial America's Cup competition Thursday behind the steady shotmaking of Charlie Coe and Labron Harris Jr.

The Americans, unbeaten in six previous cup encounters with hemispheric neighbors, had a one-point edge after the morning six-somes and appeared to be headed for a virtual rout in the early afternoon during the singles matches.

STOPS COWAN

But the United States stayed ahead at the end of the day only because Coe, twice U.S. amateur champion, brought an abrupt halt to the unbeaten record of Gary Cowan of Kitchener, Ont.

Coe beat Cowan 4 and 2 for the Canadians' first defeat in 13 American Cup singles encounters. A little later, Cowan also was defeated by Juan Estrada of Mexico 1 up.

At the end of the day's nine matches, the United States had 12½ points, Canada 11 and Mexico 3½.

The three-way duels are being played over the hilly 6,896 yards of the Wakonda Club course where par is 36-38-72. The 63rd annual U.S. Amateur championships will be held over the same layout next week.

Wakonda's undulating greens brought Cowan's downfall. His poor putting stayed with him until the very end. He missed an eight-foot tap on the final hole that cost him the decision with Estrada.

"I missed at least 10 putts of eight feet or less," said Cowan.

WESLOCK HALVES

Harris, the current U.S. amateur champion, halved his singles encounter with Nick Weslock, of Burlington, Ont., Canadian amateur king, and defeated Luis Brauer of Mexico.

Weslock almost defeated Harris, coming over a young forest of elms with his second shot and stopping the ball dead nine feet from the pin, only to miss the birdie putt.

TICHERST WINS

Bert Tichehurst of Vancouver defeated Deane Berman of the U.S., former British and U.S. amateur champion, in the singles, 3 and 2. Berman went over par on seven holes and got only a single birdie. His effort, however, was good enough to best Thomas Lehman of Mexico 3 and 1. Tichehurst, in turn, beat Lehman, 6 and 5.

The United States went to lunch with a one-point edge over Canada after the trio of three-ball six-somes in the morning. In this style of links war, two players from each country play similar teams from the other two nations, each player hitting alternate shots.

WIN BOTH

Coe and Berman won both of their contests and Harris combined with Billy Joe Patton of Morgantown, N.C., for a half with Canada and a 4 and 2 triumph over Mexico.

A similar program of nine matches is scheduled for today with the captains naming their teams 30 minutes before the start.

Coe and Berman picked up the first pair of points after trailing the Mexican team of Jose Luis Ortega and Lehman at the turn and being no better than even with the Canadian twosome of Weslock and Tichehurst. The Americans wound up with a 4 and 3 decision over the Canadians and a 3 and 2 edge over Mexico. The Mexicans had a 3 and 2 margin over Canada.

SPECTACULAR SHOT

Despite the Canadians' double defeat, the most spectacular shot of the duel was a 40-yard chip into the cup by Tichehurst on the 185-yard ninth hole for a birdie two.

The Canadian team of Cowan and Bill Wakeham of Victoria birdied the 18th and sent the teams into the only deadlock of the morning round.

Wakeham provided the spectacular finish with a 120-yard wedge shot that stopped six feet from the pin. Cowan sank the putt for the birdie and a half on the match.

Wakeham, however, didn't play in the afternoon singles. His place was taken by Bill Pidlaski of Winnipeg.

Harris was teamed with Billy Joe Patton, captain of the U.S. team. Both the Canadians and the United States downed the Mexican duo of Mauricio Urdaneta and Rafael Quroz, 4 and 2. Mexico's non-playing captain, Guillermo Vidales, attempted a bit of strategy by placing Juan Estrada and Augustin Silveyra regarded as his two best players, into the third sixsome, but it failed to gain the Mexicans a point.

The pair lost to Dick Sikes 1 up and then went on to win 4 and 3 over Urdaneta and Silveyra halved.

Silverberg defeated Ortega 4 and 2 and then Silverberg beat Richard Davis of the United States 4 and 2. Davis beat Ortega 1 up.

Bill Sikes of the U.S. defeated Alexander 5 and 4 and Urdaneta 5 and 3. Urdaneta beat Alexander 3 and 2.

Dr. Edgar Updegraff of the U.S. 2 and 1, and bowed to Keith Alexander and Douglas Silverberg both of Calgary by the same margin.

Canada beat the U.S., also by 2 and 1, in the other third of the duel.

In other afternoon singles action, Pidlaski defeated Silveyra 1 up and then went on to win 4 and 3 over Updegraff.

Canada beat the U.S., also by 2 and 1, in the other third of the duel.

Warick scored two goals last night as Vancouver beat the Mann Cup champs, 10-7. In the WINNIPEG (CP)—Comox's sloner Syd Halter of the Canadian Football League Thursday confirmed that a technically ineligible player has been named as a non-import.

Halter said in interview that the league made the decision on Tom Cloutier, a Toronto Argonaut end, at the annual meeting last February.

Cloutier, 23, was signed by Montreal Alouettes last year, but "through an error in this office was listed as a non-import," Halter said.

Alouette president Ted Workman "disclosed the error to me at the end of last year. Workman himself had just learned of it for the first time."

The facts of the case were given to the CFL annual meeting, Halter said, and "it was unanimously agreed that the CFL would continue to classify him as a non-import, but he was to be waived by Montreal and picked up by any club that wanted him."

This was done and Toronto got Cloutier for the $350 waiver price.

Halter said that nobody in the present Alouette administration is connected with the case. He declined to elaborate on this point.

The statement by Halter was issued in the wake of published reports of Cloutier's special status.

Pats Play In Comox

COMOX — A soccer team from the RCAF station here will take on a team from the First Battalion Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry Saturday at 2 p.m.

Winner of the game will play against the HMCS Naden team on the navy sports field at Esquimalt at 2 p.m. Sept. 14 to represent the B.C. Area for the Peakes Trophy in the east Oct. 9.

Brazilian Bomber Wrecks Ralston

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (AP)—Ronnie Barnes, a little giant-killer from Brazil, upset third-seeded Dennis Ralston 6-4, 7-6, 6-3 but towering Frank Froehling saved some U.S. prestige with a comeback 6-8, 4-6, 6-3, 6-3, 9-7 victory over England's Bobby Wilson Thursday in the quarter-finals of the U.S. national tennis championships.

Barnes and Froehling are matched in the semi-finals Saturday with the other pairing to be determined by the remaining two quarter-final tests today.

In these, top-seeded Chuck

McKinley of San Antonio, Tex., faces the second of Brazil's surprising form wreckers, 18-year-old Thomas Koch, while Martin Riesen of Evanston, Ill., goes against fourth-seeded Rafael Osuna of Mexico.

Ralston's defeat was the second stunning setback to prime favorites in 24 hours at the chilled West Side Tennis Club. Froehling eliminated second-seeded Roy Emerson Wednesday, riding the men's field of Australians for the first time since 1950 at such an early stage.

Bill Quillian of Seattle, who won the title last year with Jack Lowe, will be returning with a new partner as Lowe is unable to make the trip. Quillian is top-ranked singles player in the Pacific Northwest as well as Washington state singles champ.

The Portland teams of Sam Lee and Emory Neale and Jim Jackson and Harry Doyle, ranked second and third, respectively, behind Quillian and Lowe in the PNW ratings, are also entered.

Ray Alderger, city singles champ, teams up with Canadian Closed junior champion Don McCormick for a strong Victoria entry. The other city entry will be Howie Tooby and Vince Clarkson of Oak Bay Tennis Club.

Finals will be held Sunday at 1 p.m.

Series Dates Announced

Rocks Play in Whitby

OSHAWA, Ont. (CP)—The Canadian junior lacrosse championship, to be played in Whitby, Ont., between Oshawa Green Gaels and Victoria

Shamrocks, will open next Monday night.

Dates of the best-of-seven series were announced here Thursday night. Other games are scheduled for Sept. 11, 13, 14, and 15, if necessary, Sept. 16, 18, and 20.

The Shamrocks are expected to arrive in Oshawa Monday. The series is to be played in Whitby because it has a larger arena.

And so, as far as this column is concerned, we say farewell to another golfing summer. There have been moments to remember, moments that one desperately wants to forget.

There have been triumphs and disasters, acts of chivalry and some underhand deeds. New friends have been made, and new enemies. It will always be thus in the shifting world of professional golf.

Personally, I'm reaching the age when I can observe it all from a dispassionate distance. Here, then, is Faulkner's Review of World Golf in 1963.

The greatest feat of the year? Bob Charles' victory in the British Open Championship. Not just a triumph for New Zealand but a breakthrough for the most oppressed minority in the game... the left-handers.

Charles, believe me, is here to stay. A year ago I was beating him in a play-off in Germany. I wouldn't like to have to try now. He's hardened as a man and a golfer under the fires of the American circuit and left-handers have found themselves a patron saint for the next decade.

The discovery of the year? Beyond doubt, Brian Huggett, one of the few young Britons of the past 10 years to realize that the game is paved with gold for the man who is prepared to drop everything for it.

The silent guy of the year? America's Arnold Palmer, who started the year as undisputed King of World Golf. The nervous strain told on him. He had to get away from the game altogether... and when he came back the world's press was waiting to report the big story that he was through.

I don't think Palmer is through by a mile. But I have the greatest admiration for a man who can take the knocks as well as the triumphs with a grin.

Palmer finished one shot behind me in the British Open after winning it the two previous years. "I enjoyed every second of it," he said, and I believed him as he said it.

The one-guy-I-don't-want-to-meet-again of the year? One Phil Rodgers, of the United States, whose conduct both on and off the course in Britain must have lost his country quite a few admirers.

The great comeback man of the year? I bracket Harold Henning of South Africa, with Bernard Hunt of Great Britain. Henning's luck seemed to turn with a lucrative hole-in-one and I gather he has now given up his despairing thoughts of quitting the circuit.

Hunt? The fact that he's won $6,000 in four months on a British circuit that isn't exactly the richest in the world should speak for itself.

Hunt's comeback started when he shortened and flattened out his once long backswing. Amateur golfers please note. If your game suddenly cracks follow Hunt's example: the shorter the swing the more mistakes that can be eliminated.

The disappointment of the year? For me, Dave Thomas of Wales, and the immensely powerful Lionel Platts of England, for whom I have been predicting a great future for two years. Both have the length to make good on American circuits. Maybe going to the American circuits is what they now need.

The shot of the year? I must award that to my old rival, Dai Rees. Dai was playing the 180-yard 13th at Woodbrook, Eire, with a £1,000 hole-in-one bonus at the end of it.

It is close-trapped in front of a deceptively sloping green. Dai took a four-iron, hit the most perfect shot and went quite white as the ball pitched and ran up nearer, nearer and still nearer to the pin.

It finally came to a standstill two inches from the hole. It was the only time I have ever seen Dai simply furious at an almost perfect shot.

On that note of fearful frustration I shall take my leave of you for another winter.

South Seas Anyone?

You May Have to Wait Two Years

By DON GAIN

If you want to take a South Seas cruise on the Norwegian cargo liner, Thorale, which docked in Victoria at the weekend, you'll have to add your name to a two-year waiting list, according to George Dawson of King Bros., ship agents.

"It's a very popular trip," said Philip Chandler of the same company. "It takes about 3 1/2 months."

The Thorale picked up 350,000 board feet of lumber for Tonga when she docked in Victoria Saturday.

She will call at New Westminster and then work her way down the U.S. Pacific coast before setting sail for the South Seas.

The 12 passengers she picks up in San Francisco will have a leisurely cruise to Fiji, Tonga, Tahiti, and possibly as far south as New Guinea. The cargo liner carries just about everything from canned salmon to auto parts for these islands.

Thor I, owned by the same company, Thor Dahls of Sandefjord, is on the same run.

The 387-foot ship was built in 1949, is listed in Lloyd's Register at 6,265 tons deadweight.

Norwegian ships are noted for their cleanliness and their good food.

Second War Tramp Back in Birthplace

Back to Victoria, her birthplace, this week came the tramp freighter Marnegra, a Second World War Canadian merchant ship built at Victoria Machinery Depot as the Clearwater Park.

One of about 10 Park ships built by VMD to carry wartime freight for Canada's merchant marine, the 10,780-ton vessel has had two other names in her lifetime, Tioja Star and Norse Mountain. She is now sailing under the Liberian flag with a Greek crew.

On her present voyage she is picking up a cargo of 5,000,000 board feet of lumber at Port Alberni, Chemainus, Victoria, Nanaimo and Mainland ports for the U.K. She loaded 600,000 feet at Ogden Point.

CONVERTED TANKER
Clearwater Park was launched in January, 1944, as a converted tanker. She is 46 1/2 feet long, 57 feet in the beam and draws just under 28 feet of water. Registered owner of Marnegra is Mariblanca Navegacion S.A. of Monrovia, Liberia. This company is controlled by the Chandris family company of Pireaus and London.

'What's-His-Name?'

If anybody was in doubt about the identity of the federal Social Credit leader Premier Bennett cleared it up yesterday—it's "What's-his-name."

He was commenting on the split in the Quebec wing of the federal party.

A reporter had asked him his views on Real Caouette, the man the B.C. Social Credit delegation backed for national leadership two years ago, and whom Premier Bennett once described as the greatest politician to emerge from Quebec since Sir Wilfrid Laurier.

"What's-his-name was elected at a national convention and as far as I am concerned he is the leader."

"Robert Thompson," blurted a reporter.

"That's it," said the premier triumphantly.

But he hedged on whether he still thought Caouette a great politician.

Peeker Shot At

A warning shot fired by a Victoria policeman failed to stop a man who was seen peeking through a window on Ladysmith Street last night.

The man ran when Const. Lawrence Belfry approached him.

Earlier, a Niagara Street woman was awakened by a man crouched beside her bed. The man ran from the house.

'Not One New Book'Teachers Kill Time Waiting for Texts

Teachers in Greater Victoria schools are being forced to "kill time" because textbooks for the fall term's courses have not yet arrived at the schools, a Victoria high school teacher told the Colonist last night.

He asked that his name not be disclosed.

"Books that should have been ready for use on Tuesday have not yet been issued, and there's a rumor that at least one textbook hasn't even been published," he said.

He said teachers at all levels are being forced to stall, kill time and review last year's work while this year's curriculum steadily gets farther behind schedule.

"In many cases teachers don't know yet what they are supposed to be teaching."

"This is a most deplorable situation, and is the result of too many people being either unwilling or not competent to take their full responsibility."

He said this year's textbooks were ordered in June, then principals began changing their minds as to what books they wanted.

Didn't Do Anything

"The school board administrators knew about the delays, but didn't do anything about it, and now students must suffer for the combination of irresponsibility among educational authorities."

He said responsibility for the delay rests on local education administrators and personnel in the textbook branch of the legislative buildings.

"Some old textbooks are being used for courses which have not changed, but there are not enough of these to go around," the teacher said.

"But there are no many new courses this year as a result of the Chant report, that the situation is worse than it might otherwise have been.

"Books haven't even arrived yet for courses which have not been changed, and they usually arrive in time for the fall term whether there are any changes or not."

"Up until today not one new textbook had arrived at any school in Greater Victoria."

He said it was deplorable that students should be made to suffer from the gross incompetence of educational authorities.

New managing director of the Victoria YM-YWCA, James A. McConnell, formerly of the Winnipeg YMCA, tries out his new desk while his predecessor, F. Vivian Shoemaker, right, goes over some paper work with him. Mr. Shoemaker has been with Victoria "Y" almost continually since 1927, since 1949 in the post he now leaves.

Appeal for InformationDetectives Put Whole Time On George Down Murder

A number of city detectives have been assigned to work exclusively on trying to track down the murderer of George Down, city Detective Inspector Charles Webb said last night.

All other police are co-operating in the investigation, he said. He said police have interviewed numerous persons who came forward with various items of information "for which we are very grateful."

He repeated his appeal for anyone with any information which might relate to the case of the 17-year-old youth who was found bludgeoned to death early last Friday.

CONFIDENTIAL
Any information will be kept confidential by police unless they are authorized by the person giving it to release it, he said.

Key question, he said, continues to be what went on in the approximately one hour between 12:20 a.m., until which time police have traced Down's movements, and 1:20 a.m., when police estimate the murder took place.

Down was last seen about 12:20 a.m. near City Hall, when he is reported to have said he was going to the Bay.

Patrols Control Molesters

Stepped-up patrols following a flurry of reported molestings in Beacon Hill Park late last spring are proving adequate to deal with the situation, city council was told Thursday.

Parks committee chairman Ald. Millard Mooney said the hiring of an additional commissioner equipped with a walkie-talkie and extra police patrols of the area represented all the action required at this time.

"We've gone as far as we can go and the solution, we feel, is permanent," he said.

He added that as a result of increased surveillance, more than one conviction had been obtained for this type of offence in recent months.

Share Sale Contemplated

Promoters of a planned Victoria convention centre are having brochures prepared to present to the B.C. Securities Commission in a bid for permission to sell shares in the venture.

The brochures will outline planned physical facilities of the centre, to be built by converting two Yates Street movie theatres. Norman Loomer of the Dominion Hotel said last night.

Car That SwimsDouble Take at Elk Lake

By DON GAIN

Swimmers and boaters at Elk Lake did a double-take this week when they saw a trim convertible car skimming along the surface of the water.

"You're on the wrong road!" someone shouted at seeing the car's front wheels, partially visible above the water.

When the car was driven up on the beach it brought squeals of delight from young bathers who flocked around it to get a better look.

"Boy, that's nice," trilled one little boy. "I'll bet it costs a million dollars."

The amphibious vehicle is an Amphicar, "the car that swims," built in West Berlin by Industrie-Werke Karlsruhe, with a Mercedes-Benz body and a Triumph engine.

Capable of cruising speeds of 60 miles an hour and 10 knots, it rides comfortably on land and water, is said to be untipable.

One recently made the trip from Vancouver to Swartz Bay by water, in three hours, according to Richard Bowden, who came from Vancouver to introduce the vehicle to Victoria.

On the highway it looks like the usual compact convertible unless you view it from the rear and see the two propellers between the rear wheels.

In the water it looks, well, different.

There are a few points to remember. It requires both car and boat licences. It has a plug which had better be in place when you take to the water.

And, if you have more than one car, just remember to take the right one when you head for the beach.

Amphibious car cuts waters of Elk Lake as Gordon Howard and Richard

Bowden demonstrate unusual vehicle. — (Don Gain)

Trio of Newcomers, Five Incumbents On Election Scene

By JACK FREY

A city alderman, a six-foot, four-inch logger from Cobble Hill and a socialist school teacher were newcomers named in the Greater Victoria election scene last night.

They are Ald. Alfred Toone of the Victoria New Democratic Party, Maurice Simard of the Esquimalt Liberals and David Reimer of the Victoria NDP.

Five incumbent members of the legislature—including four Socialists in Victoria and Esquimalt and Liberal Alan Macfarlane in Oak Bay—were renamed to carry the banners for their parties in the Sept. 30 provincial election.

Harry Fantorpe, well-known contender in the last two federal elections, will round out the three-man Victoria NDP team.

Works Minister W. N. Chant was named by acclamation, while incumbent MLA J. Donald Smith and Waldo Skilling beat out city real estate salesman Henry Bitterman in the Victoria Social Credit nominating convention attended by 135 voting delegates at Club Stocco.

By Acclamation

Incumbent Esquimalt MLA Herbert Bruch was nominated by acclamation in an Esquimalt Social convention at Colwood community hall, attended by 65 voting delegates.

Meanwhile, incumbent Oak Bay MLA Alan Macfarlane encountered no opposition in the Oak Bay Grit nominating convention at the Oak Bay municipal hall, where 100 persons turned out.

Ald. Toone, who is chairman of Victoria's Centennial Square project committee, made it clear before his election that he will not shirk his duties on city council for the sake of a provincial election campaign.

The alderman and labor official, who has one more year to serve on his second term on city council, also said that if he wins a seat in the legislature he will serve in a dual capacity until his term of office on the council expires.

Unsuccessful candidates for nomination last night were Fred Bevis, who lost out in the Victoria NDP meeting held in Woodsworth hall on Courtney Street, and insurance salesman David Elrix who was edged out by logging company operator Simard in the Esquimalt Liberal convention held in the Langford community hall.

Beaten by Ostler

It was Mr. Elrix's second unsuccessful bid to enter Liberal politics here, after leaving the navy. He was beaten by Robert Ostler as a Grit candidate in the Esquimalt-Saanich riding during the last provincial election.

"We shall ask the people to vote for businesslike and down-to-earth government, free from uproar, free from arbitrariness and free from circus-type antics," said Alan Macfarlane.

"We shall ask the people to vote for a party and for a government that, above all else, will restore dignity to the legislature and dignity to the people by referring all important matters to the elected representatives of the people before action is taken."

"I believe that the ordinary citizen is tired of government by steam roller and by bulldozer—tired of the constant uproar which has been the hallmark of Social Credit during the last 11 years," Mr. Macfarlane said.

Chant Promises

Lots of benefits for Victoria staffs need to get together, he said.

There are plans for construction of a new provincial museum for Canada's 1967 centennial year, more buildings will be needed at the University of Victoria's Gordon Head campus, and the provincial civil servants will need a multi-level car parking facility, Mr. Chant said.

'Viv' Hands Over YMCA Reins

By HARVEY SHEPHERD

One man who has dedicated his life to the YMCA movement is handing over to another the job of top full-time man in the Victoria YM-YWCA.

James A. McConnell arrived in Victoria last week from Winnipeg, where he was executive director of the Central YMCA, to assume duties as managing director of the YM-YWCA.

F. Vivian Shoemaker, who has held the post since 1949, will assist Mr. McConnell in an advisory capacity until the year-end, then retire.

Meanwhile, "Viv" has moved out of the downstairs managing director's office in the old redbrick YMCA building at View and Blanshard and upstairs to the little office he first moved into when he became boys' secretary of the Victoria "Y" in 1927.

Mr. McConnell, a larger man with a fuller head of white hair than his quiet-spoken, good-humored predecessor, is to oversee completion of the amalgamation of men's and women's services at the Victoria YM-YWCA, culminating in the move to the planned new building on Quadra.

The growing inclusion of women in YMCA activities is one of the most basic changes Mr. Shoemaker says he has seen in his years with the Victoria YMCA. Around 1940 he was one of the main people behind the Victoria and Vancouver YMCAs becoming the first in Canada to begin a "So-Ed" social and educational program for young men and women.

Probably the single thing in which he takes greatest pride is the growth of the Victoria YMCA's Camp Thunderbird at Sooke. Founded under his supervision in the mid-1930s, the modern, fully-equipped camp is one of the Victoria YMCA's most flourishing and popular activities.

Muir CreekFirefighters Strive To Contain Blaze

Firefighters last night were working to close a fire break around a 200-acre fire in the Muir Creek area near Sooke. The blaze was contained but was in danger of flaring up at any time.

A B.C. Forest Service official last night said a Martin-Mary water bomber and several pieces of heavy equipment had been pressed into the battle to beat down the blaze which got out of hand from controlled burning in a heavy wind Wednesday and jumped a 264-yard wide fire break.

EIGHT PASSES

The Mars made at least eight passes before 6 p.m. and was making additional runs during the evening, taking on water cargoes from Juan de Fuca Strait.

The spokesman said in addition to the bomber, six bulldozers and four water tankers had been sent in to join 60 company men already fighting the blaze.

There had been very little change in the fire position since yesterday afternoon.

A weather inversion, pressing down in the area made the fire seem a lot worse than it was, the spokesman said.

He stressed the blaze was being fought by company men on company property. The ranger staff at Langford is working round the clock with company officials. No Forest Service personnel were engaged in fighting the fire, he said.

SIX NEW FIRES

Vancouver Island yesterday was the most sensitive fire spot in British Columbia with six new fires reported.

Five of the fires were caused by smokers.

At present there are 67 forest fires, mostly controlled, burning in B.C., the spokesman said.

Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: Since you fancy yourself as infallible, this letter may come as a real blow. You have erred.

A flabby handshake — you called it a "dead fish" — does not necessarily mean the person lacks enthusiasm or interest. Sometimes it simply means the poor guy has arthritis. I know because for years I've suffered with the problem, and it's an affliction I wouldn't wish on the devil himself.

So ten lashes with a wet noodle to you, Toots. This one was a first-class blooper. DON'T SHAKE, JUST NOD.

Dear Don't: My sincere apologies to you and all others who are similarly afflicted. I had no idea so many people suffer from arthritis in their hands. I think I heard from most of them.

I contritely accept the 10 lashes. And now, let's shake hands and be friends. Pardon me—we'll just nod.

Dear Ann Landers: Has the time come for me to roll the skeleton out of the closet and tell my children their father was a skunk? He has been dead for 15 years, and because I have kept his halo shining, his children believe he was a saint.

True, he was good to his family, but the man was immoral to the core. I put up with one love affair after another—even an out-of-wedlock child whom he quietly supported.

I'm now going with a man who would be an ideal husband for my sunset years. We plan to marry in 1966 when we both retire. Until then we must settle for visiting one another.

When I go to his city I stay with him (in his apartment) because I can't afford a hotel. Two of my children have stopped talking to me because of this love affair. The others are turning mighty cool. They feel my behavior is indecent. When my oldest son said, "What do you think dad would say about this?" I was tempted to unload the whole story then and there. Would I be justified? — KEEPER OF THE CLOSET KEYS.

Dear Keeper: Sorry, Mother, but throwing rotten eggs at your husband's tombstone after keeping it neatly polished for 15 years will not justify your own conduct in the eyes of your children.

You say you can't afford to stay in a hotel. I say, if you want the respect of your family—or anyone else—you can't afford NOT to stay in a hotel.

Dear Ann Landers: I think you missed a bet with your reply to "Can't Figure It"—the person who wanted to know why some folks who have a lot of money and live high sometimes cry poor mouth.

My husband and I might be considered in this category so I feel qualified to speak up. We both worked hard in our younger days, we made good investments and, with a little luck, we managed to get pretty well set.

Some of our friends and relatives who have had a difficult time financially often complain about their bills and how rough they are having it. My husband and I have discovered it makes them feel better if we cry right along with them. The old saying, "Misery loves company" is true.

I believe that because of this policy nobody resents us or what we have. So pass the word, will you, Ann? — CROCODILE TEARS.

Dear Croc: Consider it passed. And while you're crying, Dool, drop a tear for me, will you please?

Kitchen Shower

A kitchen shower was held recently at the Queenswood Drive home of Mrs. Kenneth King in honor of Mrs. Barry Roath, the former Miss Vicki Hinch who was married Saturday.

Courages were presented to the guest-of-honor, her mother, Mrs. F. V. Hinch, her grandmother, Mrs. T. B. T. Hewett, and to Mrs. J. F. Roach, mother of the groom.

Feature of the evening was the entrance of the shower gifts arranged in the form of a horse which was built around an ironing board. Miss Wendy McCague and Miss Rosalind Franklin were responsible for this unique arrangement, while Miss Paulette Howard and Miss Patsy McLeman made up another group of gifts into a multi-tiered wedding cake.

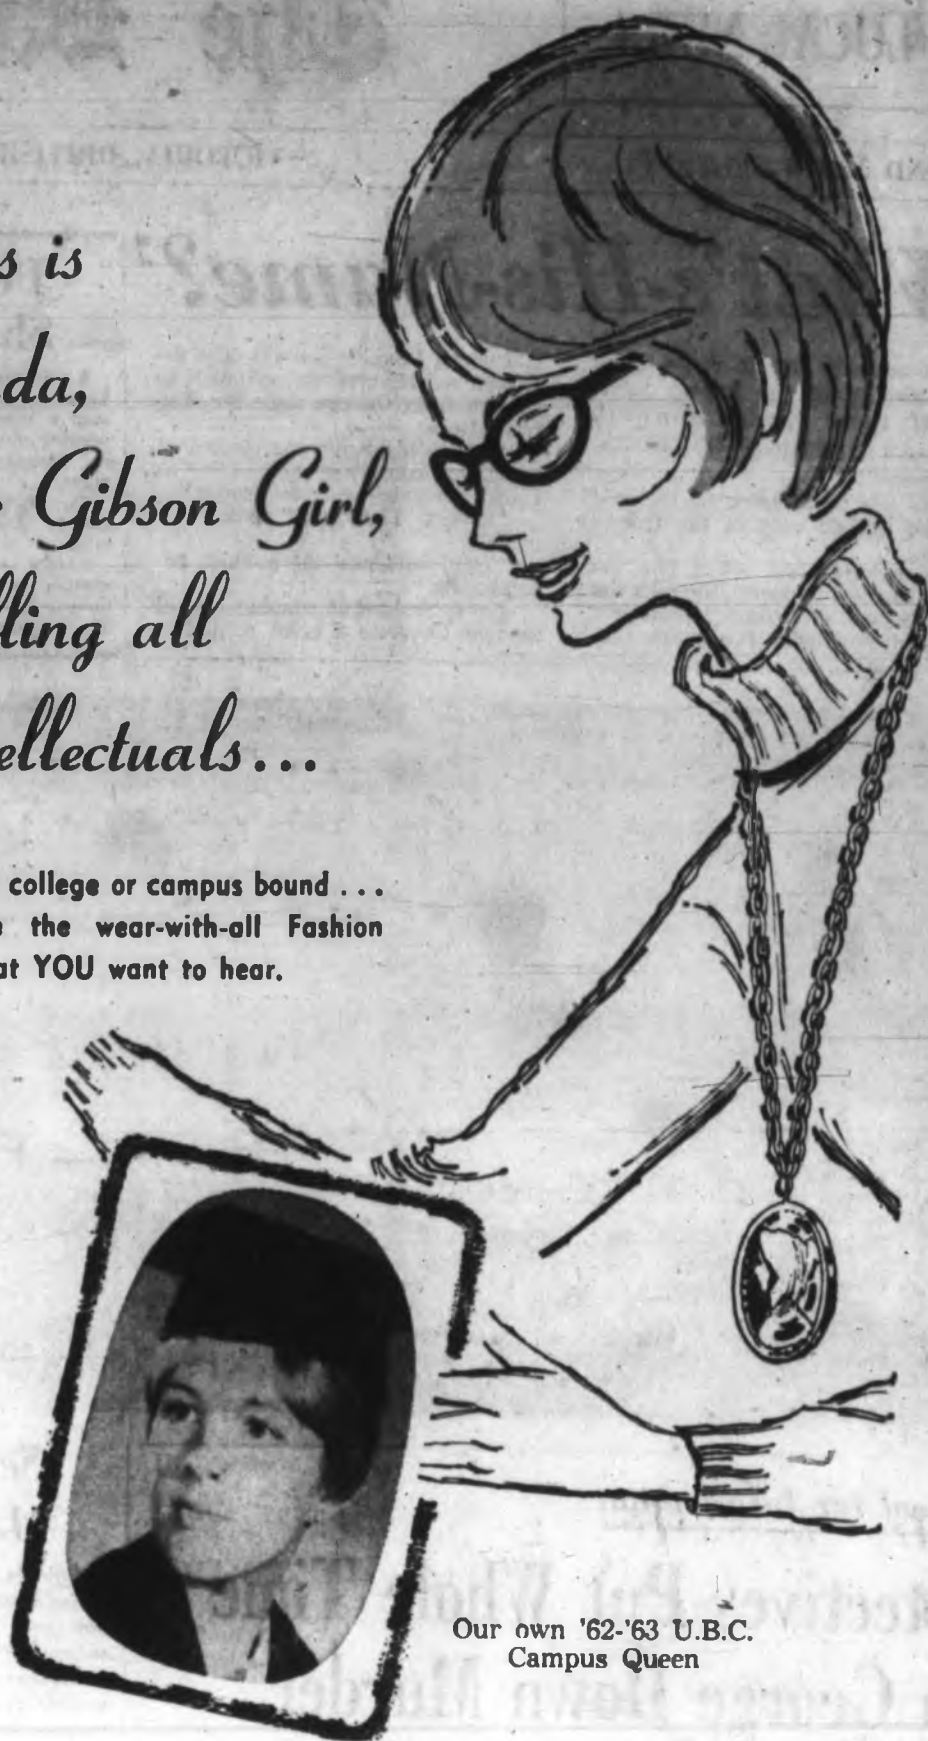

JUNIOR CHOIRS
Other guests, most of whom Vicki had earlier been associated with in the junior choirs of St. John's or St. Peter's Churches, were Mrs. H. B. Kelley, Mrs. A. W. Palmer, Mrs. M. E. The engagement is announced of Dawn Georgina, daughter of Mrs. A. Hickman, 816 Linden Avenue, and the late Mr. G. J. Hutchings, to Mr. Ronald Dale Steele, son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Steele, 85 Battleford Avenue. The wedding will take place Sept. 14 at 2 p.m. in St. Paul's Naval and Garrison Church, Esquimalt. Rev. Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Parker Wed in St. John's Church

St. John's Anglican Church was the scene of the recent marriage of Gloria Mobey and Mr. Jon Stirling Parker. Rev. Colin A. Campbell, assisted by Rev. Robert Warren, officiated at the service of holy matrimony which was accompanied by holy communion for the bride and groom. Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Walter Mobey, 418 Alpha Terrace, and Mr. and Mrs. Elton Parker, 196 Kempenfeldt Drive, Barrie, Ont.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, chose a floor-length gown of embossed peau de soie in antique white. Styled on empire lines it featured long lily-point sleeves, sweetheart neckline and full skirt flaring into slight train. A pearl tiara held her finger-tip veil and she carried a bouquet of trailing pink roses. Her only jewelry was a gold cross.

Miss Sylvia Mobey was maid of honor for her sister. She wore a pink peau de soie gown fashioned after the bride's gown. A pink rose headpiece caught her shoulder-length veil of pink net. Flower girl Miss Jo-Ann Lynn Parker, the groom's sister, was in a knee-length frock of pink peau de soie with matching chiffon overskirt.

Master James Parker as ring-bearer carried a white pillow trimmed with pink.

Mr. Dalbert Kirkpatrick was best man. Ushering guests to their pews were Mr. Richard Abbott and Mr. Brian Parker.

At the reception in the Tally-Ho Travelodge the bride's table was centred by a heart-shaped three-tier wedding cake in pink and white and flanked by six candles in silver candelabra.

Something Old for Bride Grandmother's Pearls

Maureen Claire Dowling, daughter of Mrs. C. H. Dowling, 1781 McRae Ave., and the late Mr. Dowling, exchanged marriage vows with William Philip Sawkins, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Sawkins, Youbou, B.C., in a double-ring ceremony in St. Luke's Anglican Church recently. Archdeacon C. E. F. Wolff officiated.

Standards of coral, pink and white gladiolus decorated the church for the occasion.

Purcell's "Trumpet Voluntary" and Mendelssohn's wedding music were played.

The bride was given in marriage by her grandfather, H. M. Hall. She wore a classic, slipper-length white peau de soie gown, featuring a softly-draped semi-sheath skirt and self-fabric jacket with a scoop neckline and elbow-length sleeves. Missing from a pearl de soie rose was a finger-tip nylon net veil. She carried a crescent-shaped bouquet of deep coral pink gladiolus with stephanotis and ivy.

"Something old" was her great-grandmother's pearls which were also worn by the bride's sister and mother when they were married.

CRESCENT BOUQUETS

Attendants' street-length gowns were in a similar style to the bridal gown. Maid of honor, Miss Marjorie Howell, wore apple green peau de soie and the bridesmaid, Miss Julie McDiamid, wore deep coral pink. Headpieces were peau de soie roses and nylon net en tone. They wore white accessories and carried crescent bouquets of light coral pink gladiolus with fern and moss green ribbons.

Best man was Terry Shupe, Kitimat. Ushers were Keith Winter, Vancouver, and Kenneth Sawkins, Youbou.

A family friend, Capt. Vic Hadland, proposed the bride's toast at a garden reception at the home of a family friend. Bride's table was centred with a three-tier wedding cake, made by her grandmother, and topped with a sterling silver bud vase filled with coral pink rosebuds. Coral pink candles flanked the cake.

For travelling on honeymoon to Banff, the bride chose an aqua linen sheath and stroller-length coat en tone enhanced with beaded appliques on collar and cuffs. She wore white accessories and corsage of Johanna Hill roses.

The couple will live in Vancouver.

Wishing Well Hides Gifts

Miss Barbara Turkington, September bride-elect, was honored recently at a miscellaneous shower held at the Richardson Street home of her aunt, Mrs. V. Barry.

Corsage of pink variegated gladiolus and pink sweetheart roses was presented to the bride-to-be while her mother, Mrs. J. E. Turkington, and grandmothers, Mrs. R. M. Elliott and Mrs. J. W. Turkington, received red carnations.

The many gifts were concealed in a rose-covered wishing well. White candles in a crystal candelabra and a petite model of a bride centred the buffet table.

INVITED GUESTS

Guests were Mrs. John Anderson, Mrs. Tony Thompson, Mrs. Fred Latham, Mrs. C. H. Shandley, Mrs. L. C. McKay, Mrs. Weslie McKay, Mrs. M. Pedneault, Mrs. Roy Edwards, Mrs. Don Davidson, Mrs. Fred Johnson, and the Misses Bev Turkington, Helen Pickup, Jean Davidson, Jo Anne Shandley, Kathy Johnson. Unable to attend were Mrs. J. A. IMAGINE

AT SWEET SIXTEEN

"THE LOOK" is Sportive, Sultry

"The Look" in Sweet Sixteen's Fall Fashions is really to look, one, sportive and casual, the other, sultry and sophisticated. Fashion demands for the sportive is on fine tailoring and fabrics such as herring bones and tweeds, used in contrast with very feminine accents such as the soft touch of lush fur.

The sultry and sophisticated look is reflected by curve-conscious after-five fashions in elegant fabrics ... and by the sumptuous styling in luxurious man-made furs.

Whether sportive or sophisticated one thing is outstanding about "The Look" at Sweet Sixteen this season ...

It is definitely Fall '63, new looking and fresh, with a fashion impact you'll love.

Garden Notes

The Best New Bulbs!

By M. V. CHESNUT, PHN

In selecting flowers to plant in our gardens, our way is made easier by the work of the specialist flower societies who grow and test all the new varieties as they come out, reporting on which are the cream of the crop. The American Rose Society, for instance, tries out all the new roses in test gardens scattered all through the United States and Canada, and it is part of my job to report in this column every year which varieties have been honored with the jealously guarded appellation, All-America Rose.

In the same way, new gladiolus varieties are tested for beauty of form and coloring, freedom from disease and weather resistance in the test gardens of the American Gladiolus Society. Of the hundreds of new gladioli that are bred every year, the two or three finest are chosen to be known as All-America Gladioli.

It isn't as generally known that bulbs also undergo the same grueling tests and are rated in much the same way. Planted in the world-famous Keukenhof Gardens near Lisse, in Holland, the bulbs are grown under the sponsorship of the Netherlands Flower Bulb Institute, and are judged by visiting horticultural experts during the spring blossoming period.

There is one important difference, however, between the testing of bulbs and the testing of gladioli and roses. In the case of roses and gladioli—and annual flowers—only new varieties are tested and rated. With the bulbs, the International Bulb Selection is not so restricted, and if a hyacinth, a tulip or a daffodil is good enough, it could come up with an award year after year, until a better variety comes along to push it off its pedestal of excellence. Judging is done on the basis of the strength of the stem, position of the flower, texture of the petals, clarity and brightness of color, length of stem and the tightness of the bulb skin.

Of the bulbs that bloomed and were rated last spring at Keukenhof, one tulip was chosen as the finest of its class in each of nine categories, and one each of daffodils and hyacinths.

The award-winning tulip in the Kaufmanniana class is Strea, yellow on the inside and red on the outside. The Kaufmann tulips originate in Turkey where they still grow wild, and with its wide-open and pointed petals, it resembles a water lily bloom; in fact, they are known popularly as the Water Lily tulips.

Winner in the Greigii class of tulips is Red Riding Hood, a very large scarlet flower with mottled purple and brown leaves. Red Riding Hood is actually a cross between a Greigii and a Kaufmann tulip.

First Lady was voted the best of the Triumph tulips, with beautifully-formed cups of reddish violet flushed with purple, held erect on 28-inch stems.

Among the Darwins, the nod was given to Holland's Glorie, a very large orange-scarlet flower with a black base. Actually, Holland's Glorie is not pure Darwin, but a cross between a Darwin and a Foster's tulip, a class noted for its huge blooms and, strong, straight stems.

Paul Richter is the expert's choice this year for a pot-grown tulip for forcing out of season, and bears a bright scarlet bloom. In the peony-flowered class of tulips, Nizza is crimson striped with pale yellow. My own favorite class of tulips is the elegant lily-flowered, and the winner here is Mariette, a salmon pink bloom, vase-shaped and with delicately pointed petals.

Rosy Wings, a veteran in the Cottage tulip class since 1944, is named the best of its type. It is a clear pink tulip with contrasting white base and pointed cup. Texas Gold leads in the Parrot tulip class, and, as the name implies, it is big and golden, with fringed and feathery petals.

Among the 200-odd varieties of daffodils grown at Keukenhof, the experts picked Unsurpassable as the finest. This is probably the largest and certainly the most impressive of the yellow trumpet daffodils, and, unlike many of its fellows, it performs as happily indoors in a pot as in the gardens of Keukenhof.

It must have been quite a job picking the best hyacinth out of the many fine varieties under test. Delft Blue was first choice, making a well-filled spike in a delicate porcelain blue shade. This flower, too, is well suited for pot or bowl culture.

Two interesting flower shows are scheduled for tomorrow afternoon and evening.

The second annual flower and vegetable show of the Centennial United Church Men's Club opens at 1 o'clock tomorrow, running through until 6 p.m. The show is staged in the Centennial Church Gymnasium, Howard Harris Building, on David Street just off the Gorge Road. Admission is 50 cents, which includes tea.

The ninth annual fall show of the Gordon Head Garden Club will be staged tomorrow from 2 to 9 p.m. in the Gordon Head Community Hall on Tyndall Avenue. Admission is 25 cents per person, children free, and there will be a stall for the sale of plants, bulbs and garden gadgets. I picked up a honey of a bird-feeder at this show several years ago, and its cost was peanuts.

I should point out that it is not necessary to be a member of the Centennial Men's Club or the Gordon Head Garden Club to exhibit your pet houseplant, cut flowers, vegetables or fruit in these shows—anyone can take a crack at it for an entry fee of 10 cents per exhibit. And while you won't get rich on the prize money, there is a lot of satisfaction in coming home with an award. Novice gardeners are notoriously lucky in copying first prize ribbons. Entries for both shows close at 6 o'clock this evening.

The Little World of SHEILAH GRAHAM

Anita Ignores Diva's Snub

HOLLYWOOD (NANA) — Did you know that in Dave Garraway's brownstone in New York he has a tomb in the garden with dates of the birth and death of the Today show? Grisly don't you think?

Anita Ekberg couldn't care less that Maria Callas has rubbed her off the invitation lists for those elegant cruises in the elegant yacht owned by Aristotle Onassis. Seems that before Anita's marriage to Erik von Nutter, she had a few dates with the Greek millionaire, and Maria heard about them.

Sybil Burton's job in her new theatre venture with Peter Cook will be casting director. I know one woman she will never cast in a play... and what is she supposed to do when Richard Burton comes to New York in Hamlet?

Kim Novak, in London recently, was a guest at Regents Park Zoo, where she played happily with a five-foot python and two lion cubs. One of the most superstitious stars, she is terrified every boat she is on will sink.

The second Mrs. Errol Flynn, Nora Haymes, finally received her share of the Flynn estate, promptly bought a plush new home, and tossed her saleslady job out the window.

Peter Sellers describes his Dr. Strangelove picture as a nightmare comedy... Zsa Zsa Gabor's 17-year-old daughter, Francesa, has been discovered by Ray Milland's handsome son, Danny... Richard Burton paid for all the furnishings in Sybil's Manhattan apartment...

Pearl Bailey is wondering about adding Jon Lewis to her Las Vegas act. It's hard to tell who the headliner is.

Alice Faye and husband Phil Harris were the nice-looking couple having dinner recently with Bob Goldwater, brother of the senator... Romantic Rock Hudson wants to play Humphrey Bogart roles, and is trying to buy some of Bogey's old roles for remakes... and good news for fans of Merle Oberon and Laurence Olivier in Wuthering Heights. It will be re-released in October.

Choo Choo Collins, now being screen tested for the Richard Gere star, has a solid reason for remaining unmarried. "I've got a heart as big as a big hotel with separate rooms for 100 men," philosophizes Miss Choo Choo. "But I refuse to live with any one of them." If a girl hesitates too long, all the rooms are taken and she is out in the cold.

Desi Arnaz doesn't miss a day at the Del Mar race track, but I doubt whether you could get his ex-wife Lucille Ball there on a good bet. Desi's new bride, the former Edie Hirsch, loves the nags as much as Desi, and does his hand-capping for him. On a good day you can see race lovers Jimmy Durante, Victor Mature, Phil Harris and Alice Faye. It's a pleasant race course almost within sound of the ocean.

John Huston was reminiscing about the late Ernest Hemingway. "I remember drinking with Papa and he rated Redyard Kipling a better writer than himself." I've always loved Kipling, but does anyone read him today?

It seems Jayne Mansfield did not mind her nude photographs appearing in Europe. She is using that magazine for showing them here. I thought it was unartistic exposure.

JOHN CROSBY Visits a Festival

Other Fields Are Greener

VENICE—The Venice Film Festival is the oldest film festival—it started in 1932—and comes on latest in the year and is having an increasingly tough time of it for that reason. The films have been pretty well picked over by this time. The stars who add glamour as well as box office to a film festival are sick of film festivals and way home.

This is the Italian's own festival and the Italian film industry is way out front in the festival department, having copped most of the major awards at everyone else's festivals. The Italians copped the Directors' Prize at the Argentine festival at Mar Del Plata; the Grand Prize at Cannes with The Leopard; first prize at the Berlin Festival with Il Diavolo, and first prize at the Moscow Film Festival with Fellini's 8½. In six international competitions the Italians have won four first prizes.

Yet the Italians have never done very well at their own festival and the Italian film industry feels it has been treated unfairly here. Even films like Rocco and His Brothers, which won world acclaim, didn't win anything here.

This follows what I consider one of the most immutable of Crosby's Laws, which is that everyone else's movies seem better than your own. The Americans are rather vigorously represented here. One film, which has caused a great deal of comment and is getting, I think, an undeserved amount of acclaim is a Negro story of Harlem juvenile gang warfare called The Cool World, which is the second feature length picture by Shirley Clarke—the first being The Connection.

The 14, 15 and 16-year-old juveniles are all amateurs who improvise hip talk. The adults are professionals. The scenery is true Harlem—ashcans, dead cats, and all. The interiors are horrifyingly real. It has its moments, all right.

But the photography, direction, and cutting are pretty bad. The Connection was a stark amateur night. As for the hip talk: the words won't bother you, but the mumbling might. Sometimes the actors mumbled so badly I had to read the French subtitles to find out what the hell they were talking about. Hip talk in French is something. Cool comes out sangfroid.

I like Shirley Clarke's work as a rule. I loved The Connection, but I do think she'll have to learn a little discipline if she expects to stay in this league.

Her film is aimless and I thought it was much too long. And in spite of it all, it didn't really have anything much new to say. Its characters are not particularly memorable. Of course, this film comes along at an opportune time when the Negro and his problems are in the world's headlines. But I'm not sure The Cool World is going to be liked, even by Negroes.

TV TALK

By JIM TAYLOR

Every new television show is great. Every new show is going to be the hit of the season, renewable for the next four seasons, and every series star is going to be filthy rich.

That's the talk that goes around this time of the year, spread by the grey-flannel types and nurtured by the performers themselves. Unfortunately, it is all B.C.

B.C. in this case stands for Before Cancellation, a state of blazing optimism extinguished as soon as the first sponsor drops the show. This cancellation is followed by a bitter campaign by the stars and producers of said show, who will charge everything from political to an evnring to lack of artistic integrity as the reason their show got the judo chop.

In most cases, lack of artistic integrity means the sponsor, the network and the viewers simply couldn't put up with this bomb any longer. Who'll be the first to go this year? Who knows. But if he's Imogene Coca, I'd be worrying.

Even as the show (Grindl) was being taped, the sponsor almost backed off in an argument over the program format. The sponsor won, and the show was changed.

Not exactly a good beginning, even in the rose-colored days B.C.

"Better things for better living . . . through chemistry!"

Policemen in Winnipeg Not Flat-Feet Says Wife

WINNIPEG (CP)—Are the feet of Winnipeg policemen flat?

No, say the force's shoe consultant, the police chief and an irate constable's wife. The wife telephoned to insist "it just isn't so" when a newspaper cartoon depicted two Winnipeg constables with feet that were both large and flat.

"Most of their feet are in better shape than the man on the street," said Consultant Bernard C. Grant. "It's the shoe clerks that have the flat feet. They get them from standing in one spot all day."

He said the walking keeps policemen in shape. The few whose feet were flat probably wore "cheap shoes that don't fit" off the job instead of the $20 custom-made boots and shoes provided by the force. Chief Robert Taft said feet undoubtedly were flat back in the days of 12-hour pounding of a beat.

"But today police don't work as long and they're more mobile in cruisers and motorcycles."

City Pupils At Seminar

Bare Facts Show Good Boots Vital

The need for more workmen to wear proper footwear, including hard-toed boots, is shown by the fact that 2,212 B.C. workmen had foot injuries in 1962, says the B.C. Workmen's Compensation Board. The board's news bulletin says there were 76,361 days lost from work because of these foot injuries. Compensation payments amounted to $755,862.75. Thirty-one of the 2,212 cases resulted in permanent disability pensions.

City's August Weather Cooler, Drier, Duller

August was cooler, drier and had less sunshine than normal, the Victoria weather office reports.

Mean temperature for the month was 59.4 degrees, 0.7 degrees below normal. Maximum temperature for the month was 78.2 degrees on Aug. 8, 3.6 degrees below the normal August maximum, but minimum temperature for the month was 49.9 degrees on Aug. 26, 1.1 degrees above normal.

Precipitation during the month was 0.25 inch, only 49 per cent of normal, and occurred on five days. There were two thunderstorms, on Aug. 11 and 12. Only 37 thunderstorms had been reported in 64 years and the two this month make it 29 in 65 years.

There were 287.1 hours of bright sunshine, 96 per cent of normal. Total hours of bright sunshine Jan. 1 to Aug. 31 now are 1,631.7 hours, 95.6 per cent of normal.

In the Jan. 1-Aug. 31 period this year Victoria had 9.71 inches of precipitation, 67.9 per cent of normal.

Average hourly windspeed was below normal and no gales were reported during August.

STRACHAN
... new plank

BENNETT
... would break B.C.

'Socialist at Worst'

Bennett Lashes NDP Proposal

Premier Bennett charged at a press conference here yesterday that either of the two campaign planks announced by the New Democratic Party so far would break the province.

The NDP plan to give the public a stake in private B.C. companies through the purchase of shares with parity bond money was "straight state socialism at its worst, a threat against every business in this province," he charged.

He said NDP leader Robert Strachan's plan to issue parity bonds on behalf of a proposed crown development corporation would ruin B.C.'s economy.

"That just shows that no matter what cloak he wears, the wild Strachan has come out again. I'm glad he raised this issue."

He said it proved the real election issue was "free enterprise versus state socialism."

B.C. had already issued parity bonds to what he considered the maximum safe amount.

"Because one pill is good, it doesn't mean 10 pills are better."

He said B.C. doesn't need to offer loans for starting new industries and expanding existing ones, and "We aren't going to subsidize one private industry against another."

He said Mr. Strachan doesn't know what he is getting into in proposing a free medicare plan.

"If all the people who were ill walked into B.C. it would break the finances of British Columbia."

"He's making the same blunder as Boss Johnson on hospital insurance."

"Instead of costing $11,000,000 or $12,000,000 for hospital insurance, it is now costing $58,000,000."

Basing cost predictions on present usage was what "broke the Coalition government."

He brought reporters to the edges of their chairs when he said, "We will have a medicare plan."

But then he went on to outline his government's long-standing policy that it won't go into the medicare field without a 50-50 cost-sharing agreement with Ottawa.

He was confident Ottawa would embark on such a scheme at an early date and said a federal-provincial conference scheduled for November would discuss the question.

Details would be worked out with the federal government and the medical profession.

"A muddle like they had in Saskatchewan will never happen in British Columbia as long as there is a Social Credit government."

He said the NDP scheme would result in "enormous increases in taxation."

"Every person in British Columbia would have less take-home pay."

Medicare should not be a political issue, he went on.

"If they play political football with people's health then politics have sunk to a pretty low ebb."

Premier Bennett confidently predicted his party will decimate the ranks of the NDP in the legislature, obliterate the five Liberals and leave the Tories still without a single member.

He said Highways Minister Gagliardi will defeat Tory leader Dave Fulton in Kamloops.

The premier said he will release his party's election manifesto in campaign speeches as he goes along. His first major speech will be in Fort St. John on Friday the 13th. Three days later he will speak in Quesnel and then return to the coast for a West Vancouver rally Sept. 18.

Strachan

Industry Plan Pledged

New Democratic Party leader Robert Strachan has promised a comprehensive plan to encourage industrial growth and give the public an equity in B.C.'s basic industries if he forms the next provincial government.

The industrial development proposal was the second plank of the NDP platform announced by Mr. Strachan. He released details at a Vancouver press conference on Wednesday. First plank was free, full medicare.

The industrial agency would be called the B.C. Economic Development Corporation and it would provide loans with which to establish new industries and expand present ones.

The corporation would be set up at the first session of the legislature following the Sept. 30 election.

GRANDIOSE SCHEMES
Instead of realizing B.C.'s potential of natural and industrial resources, the Social Credit government had become in "grandiose and ill-considered schemes such as the Wenner-Gren adventure."

In addition to providing loans, the corporation would be empowered to buy shares in private B.C. companies with the proceeds of the sale of parity bonds to the public.

The corporation would report directly to the provincial cabinet and consist of a chairman plus representatives from management, labor, agriculture and consumers' groups.

It would be patterned on industrial aid organizations which now exist in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Nova Scotia.

Perry Mason Not So Good In Real Life

PHOENIX, Ariz. — Raymond Burr, former New Westminster, B.C. actor who portrays the unbeatable criminal lawyer Perry Mason on television, lost a case involving a judgment of $1,000 here.

The judgement was in ward George Whelan of Phoenix, who claimed Burr had owed him the money since 1949. Burr filed an answer to the suit instead of hiring a lawyer. Judge Charles C. Election Timing Bad

Bennett Fights for Political Life

By TERRY HAMMOND
Colonist Legislative Reporter

Premier Bennett is fighting for his political life.

He faces his fifth general election as party leader with practically nothing going for him of basic grassroots appeal.

The election timing is awry — forced on him by the delicate state of negotiations with the U.S. over the price to be paid for B.C.'s downstream Columbia River power. Traditionally an election follows a legislative session designed to set the stage for it.

The massive road construction programs which lit the fuse of victory for the Bennett government in 1956 and 1960 are drawing to a close. Much of the lustre of slick, new, blacktop is wearing off.

So far, the vast hydro projects in progress or on the drawing board have failed to kindle a spark across a broad segment of the electoral spectrum. Most people relate power to the wall-switch and are no longer enthralled when the light comes on. In any case, the power controversy has so clouded the issues that only a small percentage of the electorate holds firm beliefs either pro or con.

A voluntary phone call shortly after 12:30 p.m. yesterday ended a vast search for the driver of a car believed responsible for the hit-and-run death of Mrs. Anna Neilson, 470 Thetis Crescent, early Wednesday.

Mrs. Neilson was hit by a car on the Trans-Canada Highway at about 12:30 a.m. She died instantly.

The body of the mother of five children was knocked into a 20-foot ditch between Tillam and Burnside and was found by Saanich police Corp. Robert Petersen about 4:30 a.m. after a truck driver spotted personal effects scattered for about 150 feet along the highway.

Yesterday's telephone call was received by Saanich Det.

Sgt. Joseph Armstrong who immediately went to the caller's home and impounded his car. It was towed to the Saanich police garage.

Stanley Ralph Hansen Jr., 2120 Milstream, appeared in Saanich magistrate's court at 3 p.m. yesterday charged with failing to remain at the scene of an accident and was remanded without election, or plea until Sept. 12.

Christine Keeler Arrested

LONDON (UPI) — Christine Keeler, 21-year-old red-head whose testimony helped convict Dr. Stephen Ward of vice charges in a sex-and-security scandal that rocked the British government, was arrested Thursday night on charges of perjury and obstructing the course of justice.

Mrs. Keeler's long-time friend, Paula Hamilton-Marshall, and Mrs. Marshall's housekeeper, Mrs. Olive Brooker, were booked on the same charges.

Mrs. Brooker was carrying a 16-month-old baby identified as Miss Hamilton-Marshall's daughter. The infant was taken to a children's home.

Police said the women were arrested in connection with the case of Christine's former lover, Aloysius (Lucky) Gordon, 31-year-old Jamaican jazz singer, who was sentenced to three years for beating up Miss Keeler and then freed after an appeal.

Sleeping Sickness Kills and Spreads

CALGARY, Alta. (UPI) — An unidentified woman died in Calgary General Hospital of encephalitis Thursday night, and a four-year-old boy has been stricken with symptoms of the disease.

Dr. J. Francis said the Calgary victim had not died from encephalitis, commonly known as sleeping sickness, which has stricken horses in all three prairie provinces.

A Regina dentist died of a disease similar to equine encephalitis and at least six children in Saskatchewan, two more persons in Alberta and four in North Dakota are believed to have the disease.

Dr. Francis, who declined to give the woman's name, said she was admitted to hospital nine days ago complaining of flu, a headache and a sore back.

NOT AWAY

He said the woman had not been away from Calgary for some time. The closest infection in horses is in the Drumheller region, about 70 miles northeast of here.

Earlier it was reported a four-year-old boy had come down with what was suspected to be sleeping sickness in the Brooks, Alta., area—100 miles northeast of here and about 75 miles from Hanna—where a farmer has been in hospital with the disease.

It was reported last week that 50 persons throughout Saskatchewan have been hospitalized for symptoms similar to those of sleeping sickness.

'Confused, Biased'

Glassco Report Hit

OTTAWA (CP) — A former president of the Institute of Public Administration of Canada has riddled the Glassco report on government administration with a salvo of criticism.

Thomas McLeod, dean of the College of Commerce at the University of Saskatchewan, attacked the five-volume report of the Glassco royal commission as illogical, ill-conceived, confused, biased, unscientific, pragmatic and inadequate.

CRITICISM

His scathing critique was applauded enthusiastically Thursday by senior Canadian administrators at the start of a three-day convention of the Institute of Public Administrators.

George F. Davidson, deputy head of the federal government's new bureau of government organization, told the convention he found himself in "substantial agreement" with many of Dean McLeod's remarks.

GOOD BY CHANCE

Dean McLeod said he saw some good in the report, but he implied this happened more by accident than by intent.

"If you load your musket with sufficient buckshot, poke it into the impenetrable woods and pull the trigger you are bound to hit something," he said. "But this does not prove that you have either a keen eye or a steady hand."

Communists Trade Punches

TOKYO (CP) — Communist China has accused the Soviet Union of marshaling tens of thousands of Chinese for a political Trojan horse uprising aimed at overthrowing a Chinese district government in Sinkiang province on Russia's central Asian border.

The Chinese reported the alleged plot in broadcasts today which also said the Soviet Union's actions have brought relations between the two countries "to the brink of split."

In Moscow, the Soviet press yesterday denounced the "ultra-revolutionary" and "militant" policies of Communist China while the Kremlin was reported studying a protest from Beijing over a student demonstration at the Chinese embassy in Moscow.

De Gaulle Out to Crush U.S. Power in Viet Nam

Diem Is Boss

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP) — President Ngo Dinh Diem and his hollow-cheeked younger brother, Ngo Dinh Nhu, told reporters in separate interviews Thursday that Diem is the boss.

Both the 62-year-old chief executive and his brother, the secret police chief whose petite wife is the president's official hostess, denied Nhu controlled the government. Each said Nhu has no political ambitions.

Both expressed hope for a quick return to normal from South Viet Nam's political-religious crisis. Both forecast an improvement in the strained relations between Viet Nam and the United States, its ally in a war against Communist guerrillas.

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Times reports from Saigon that the French have been playing a major anti-American role since President de Gaulle offered last week to help South Viet Nam end foreign influence.

De Gaulle's offer was reported to have received a highly favorable response from Ngo Dinh Nhu, brother and adviser to President Ngo Dinh Diem, the Times says.

SOFTEN CRITICISM

The Times quotes a senior diplomat as saying French Ambassador Roger Ladoetie approached other Western embassies to join in an effort to persuade U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge to soften U.S. criticism of Diem's government.

RE-ESTABLISH

"Diplomats say that the purpose of Gen. de Gaulle's intervention is to end United States influence in Viet Nam, to find a means of conciliation between the Communist-ruled north and the non-Communist south and to re-establish the influence once enjoyed by France in all of Viet Nam," the dispatch continues.

COURTENAY—More than 4,000 students went to school here this week, an increase of over 400 since the end of June.

Registrations are 4,405 compared with 3,973. Included are 252 kindergarten pupils.

This year there are kindergartens at Comox and Courtenay where pupils are going every other day and at Royston where children attend daily. Cumberland's kindergarten is still operating. There are six new teachers on the District 71 staff and one new six-room elementary school at Arden is full. The six-room elementary school at Balmoral is scheduled for completion before the end of the month, meantime students are going to classes in Comox school and in the church hall.

'Not One New Book'

Teachers Kill Time Waiting for Texts

Teachers in Greater Victoria schools are being forced to "kill time" because textbooks for the fall term's courses have not yet arrived at the schools, a Victoria high school teacher told the Colonist last night.

He asked that his name not be disclosed.

"Books that should have been ready for use on Tuesday have not yet been issued, and there's a rumor that at least one textbook hasn't even been published," he said.

He said teachers at all levels are being forced to stall, kill time and review last year's work while this year's curriculum steadily gets farther behind schedule.

"In many cases teachers don't know yet what they are supposed to be teaching."

"This is a most deplorable situation, and is the result of too many people being either unwilling or not competent to take their full responsibility."

He said this year's textbooks were ordered in June, then principals began changing their minds as to what books they wanted.

Didn't Do Anything

"The school board administrators knew about the delays, but didn't do anything about it, and now students must suffer for the combination of irresponsibility among educational authorities."

He said responsibility for the delay rests on local education administrators and personnel in the textbook branch of the legislative buildings.

"Some old textbooks are being used for courses which have not changed, but there are not enough of these to go around," the teacher said.

"But there are so many new courses this year as a result of the Chant report, that the situation is worse than it might otherwise have been.

"Books haven't even arrived yet for courses which have not been changed, and they usually arrive in time for the fall term whether there are any changes or not."

"Up until today not one new textbook had arrived at any school in Greater Victoria."

He said it was deplorable that students should be made to suffer from the gross incompetence of educational authorities.

Old-Age Pensioner Treatment In Nanaimo Labelled Disgrace

Plaza Gets $100,000 Expansion

NANAIMO — A $100,000 expansion has begun at the Harwood Shopping Plaza here, it was announced yesterday.

The job is expected to be completed within two months.

Contract is being undertaken by DEBCO Construction.

NANAIMO—It is a disgrace to see the way some of the old-age pensioners are treated in some of the homes they have to live in, according to Joe Sutton, leader of the Old Age Pensioners' Organization.

Mr. Sutton was complaining at the closing of Nanaimo's old hospital. He wants to see the hospital used for treatment of chronic cases and care of the aged.

"The government just doesn't give a damn about the old-age pensioners," said Mr. Sutton.

Health Minister Eric Martin said the fight for the old hospital is a community matter and that more pressure should be put in that direction.

A statement of policy on the old building will be taken up at the next hospital board meeting.

City Council Out of Picture

City council was completely at a loss Thursday when informed of a B.C. order-in-council appointing two probation officers to the Greater Victoria family and juvenile court.

It was only after the close of the meeting that a check disclosed the two probation officers were on the city payroll all along—though Saanich and Oak Bay share their salary costs—and the cabinet order merely made them provincial employees.

New legislation which went into effect July 1 permits the attorney-general's department to appoint officers to family and juvenile courts throughout the province.

The catch lies, however—so far as municipalities are concerned—in the provision contained in the legislation that although the province appoints court officers, local governments must pay their salaries.

The order-in-council stipulated that Mrs. Helen Hall and Richard Beck should be paid according to the provincial scale, slightly higher than they were receiving. The total monthly cost in these two cases will be some $550.

When council discussed the cabinet order, aldermen agreed that the government was conducting its business "in a curious way."

"I suppose they are needed," said Mayor R. B. Wilson, "but I would have thought that some form of communication would have accompanied the order."

Port Alberni Charge

Ferry Hours of Work 'Disgrace to Province'

PORT ALBERNI — Charges that hours worked by B.C. Government Ferry employees are not only in violation of the provincial Hours of Work Act, but create "a shameful situation and a disgrace to this province," were levelled yesterday by Maurice Corbett, financial secretary of Local 145 IWA here.

He was commenting on the dispute between employees and the B.C. Government Toll Authority which resulted in a tie-up of services on the Departure Bay-Horseshoe Bay run on Tuesday.

Mr. Corbett pointed out recent reports on working time put in by ferry employees indicated they are required to work as many as 43 days with only three days off.

He added the officers of his local were in complete sympathy with the employees of the government ferry system and said the membership was 100 per cent in support of ferry employees' action to improve their working conditions.

Touchy Topic

NANAIMO—A closed meeting of the B.C. Government Employees' Association was held Thursday.

Unrest among B.C. ferry workers was the topic of the meeting and as was later stated by one of its members "It's a very touchy business and the boys are really cheesed off with the whole dirty mess."

Crown Fights to Bring Death Case Into Open

DUNCAN — Crown prosecutor David Williams told Magistrate Colin Anderson in juvenile court here yesterday that the magistrate's recent refusal to transfer to open court a 17-year-old Duncan juvenile charged with manslaughter has been appealed. The appeal will be heard in Supreme Court before Sept. 24. The manslaughter charge arose from an incident Aug. 8, in which Hugh John Nesbitt, 14, of Maple Bay, died near his home.

Date for trial will be set Oct. 1 if the boy remains in juvenile court. The $1,000 bail was continued.

Building Up In Cowichan

NORTH COWICHAN — Building permits issued during August, 1963, represented a total of $118,536 compared with $40,278, in the same period last year, according to the monthly statement from the municipal office.

Eight-month totals in 1963 and 1962 were respectively $1,713, 912 and $1,066,467.

Record Crowd Expected At Cowichan Exhibition

DUNCAN — Fair officials here expect a record attendance of the 1963 Cowichan Exhibition today and Saturday.

The two-day event will be officially opened by Lieutenant-Governor George Pearkes, at 4 p.m.

The exhibition will include livestock classes, horse shows on both days and many displays in the curling rink adjacent to the fair grounds.

One of the special features will be a giant midway. Highlights include puppet shows and women's nail driving contests on both days, the pet and amateur talent shows on Saturday, at 9:30 a.m. and 7 p.m. A horseshoe pitching contest is scheduled for Saturday at 1 p.m.

For the first time during the past several years the flower section will be accommodated outside the curling rink in a special lath building on the grounds.

P.W.E. livestock champions will be shown by Island and Mainland exhibitors.

'Viv' Hands Over YMCA Reins

By HARVEY SHEPHERD

One man who has dedicated his life to the YMCA movement is handing over to another the job of top full-time man in the Victoria YM-YWCA.

James A. McConnell arrived in Victoria last week from Winnipeg, where he was executive director of the Central YMCA, to assume duties as managing director of the YM-YWCA.

F. Vivian Shoemaker, who has held the post since 1949, will assist Mr. McConnell in an advisory capacity until the year-end, then retire.

Meanwhile, "Viv" has moved out of the downstairs managing director's office in the old redbrick YMCA building at View and Blanshard and upstairs to the little office he first moved into when he became boys' secretary of the Victoria "Y" in 1927.

Mr. McConnell, a larger man with a fuller hair of white hair than his quiet-spoken, good-humored predecessor, is to oversee completion of the amalgamation of men's and women's services at the Victoria YM-YWCA, culminating in the move to the planned new building on Quinlan.

The growing inclusion of women in YMCA activities is one of the most basic changes Mr. Shoemaker says he has seen in his years with the Victoria YMCA. Around 1940 he was one of the main people behind the Victoria and Vancouver YMCAs becoming the first in Canada to begin a "So-Ed" social and educational program for young men and women.

Probably the single thing in which he takes greatest pride is the growth of the Victoria YMCAs' Camp Thunderbird at Sooke. Founded under his supervision in the mid-1930s, the modern, fully-equipped camp is one of the Victoria YMCAs' most flourishing and popular activities.

Teacher-Farmer Chosen In Cowichan-Newcastle

DUNCAN — Cyril Craig, a Shawigan Lake Boys' School teacher was the unanimous choice for Cowichan-Newcastle Conservative candidate at a meeting here last night.

Citizens from Duncan, Cobble Hill, Ladysmith and Chemainus attended the nomination meeting which was held at Royal Canadian Legion Cowichan Branch hall.

In an interview Mr. Craig said he was against Premier Bennett's policy of selected regional "Premier Bennett's strength has been in Opposition Leader Strachan's weaknesses," he said. He said the premier's "two river policy" could lead the province into bankruptcy and called on the voters to elect Davie Fulton "In order to give the younger generation of the province a responsible government as their legacy."

Mr. Craig is married and has four children. He was educated at McGill and UBC. He is a science and mathematics teacher and owns a farm and a herd of registered highland cattle.

Van Explodes, Burns But Driver Escapes

NANAIMO—Ronald Foulks of Harewood District had a narrow escape from death yesterday afternoon when his foreign van loaded with hydraulic and diesel fuel exploded and caught fire, about three miles north of town.

While fire trucks from Nanaimo sped to the rescue, three barrels of fuel were thrown clear. Three loaded hydraulic fuel tanks were still in the van but failed to explode.

The van was a total loss.

The catch lies, however—so far as municipalities are concerned—in the provision contained in the legislation that although the province appoints court officers, local governments must pay their salaries.

The order-in-council stipulated that Mrs. Helen Hall and Richard Beck should be paid according to the provincial scale, slightly higher than they were receiving. The total monthly cost in these two cases will be some $550.

When council discussed the cabinet order, aldermen agreed that the government was conducting its business "in a curious way."

"I suppose they are needed," said Mayor R. B. Wilson, "but I would have thought that some form of communication would have accompanied the order."

Port Alberni Charge

Ferry Hours of Work 'Disgrace to Province'

PORT ALBERNI — Charges that hours worked by B.C. Government Ferry employees are not only in violation of the provincial Hours of Work Act, but create "a shameful situation and a disgrace to this province," were levelled yesterday by Maurice Corbett, financial secretary of Local 145 IWA here.

He was commenting on the dispute between employees and the B.C. Government Toll Authority which resulted in a tie-up of services on the Departure Bay-Horseshoe Bay run on Tuesday.

Mr. Corbett pointed out recent reports on working time put in by ferry employees indicated they are required to work as many as 43 days with only three days off.

He added the officers of his local were in complete sympathy with the employees of the government ferry system and said the membership was 100 per cent in support of ferry employees' action to improve their working conditions.

Touchy Topic

NANAIMO—A closed meeting of the B.C. Government Employees' Association was held Thursday.

Unrest among B.C. ferry workers was the topic of the meeting and as was later stated by one of its members "It's a very touchy business and the boys are really cheesed off with the whole dirty mess."

Crown Fights to Bring Death Case Into Open

DUNCAN — Crown prosecutor David Williams told Magistrate Colin Anderson in juvenile court here yesterday that the magistrate's recent refusal to transfer to open court a 17-year-old Duncan juvenile charged with manslaughter has been appealed. The appeal will be heard in Supreme Court before Sept. 24. The manslaughter charge arose from an incident Aug. 8, in which Hugh John Nesbitt, 14, of Maple Bay, died near his home.

Date for trial will be set Oct. 1 if the boy remains in juvenile court. The $1,000 bail was continued.

'Viv' Hands Over YMCA Reins

By HARVEY SHEPHERD

One man who has dedicated his life to the YMCA movement is handing over to another the job of top full-time man in the Victoria YM-YWCA.

James A. McConnell arrived in Victoria last week from Winnipeg, where he was executive director of the Central YMCA, to assume duties as managing director of the YM-YWCA.

F. Vivian Shoemaker, who has held the post since 1949, will assist Mr. McConnell in an advisory capacity until the year-end, then retire.

Meanwhile, "Viv" has moved out of the downstairs managing director's office in the old redbrick YMCA building at View and Blanshard and upstairs to the little office he first moved into when he became boys' secretary of the Victoria "Y" in 1927.

Mr. McConnell, a larger man with a fuller hair of white hair than his quiet-spoken, good-humored predecessor, is to oversee completion of the amalgamation of men's and women's services at the Victoria YM-YWCA, culminating in the move to the planned new building on Quinlan.

The growing inclusion of women in YMCA activities is one of the most basic changes Mr. Shoemaker says he has seen in his years with the Victoria YMCA. Around 1940 he was one of the main people behind the Victoria and Vancouver YMCAs becoming the first in Canada to begin a "So-Ed" social and educational program for young men and women.

Probably the single thing in which he takes greatest pride is the growth of the Victoria YMCAs' Camp Thunderbird at Sooke. Founded under his supervision in the mid-1930s, the modern, fully-equipped camp is one of the Victoria YMCAs' most flourishing and popular activities.

Teacher-Farmer Chosen In Cowichan-Newcastle

DUNCAN — Cyril Craig, a Shawigan Lake Boys' School teacher was the unanimous choice for Cowichan-Newcastle Conservative candidate at a meeting here last night.

Citizens from Duncan, Cobble Hill, Ladysmith and Chemainus attended the nomination meeting which was held at Royal Canadian Legion Cowichan Branch hall.

In an interview Mr. Craig said he was against Premier Bennett's policy of selected regional "Premier Bennett's strength has been in Opposition Leader Strachan's weaknesses," he said. He said the premier's "two river policy" could lead the province into bankruptcy and called on the voters to elect Davie Fulton "In order to give the younger generation of the province a responsible government as their legacy."

Mr. Craig is married and has four children. He was educated at McGill and UBC. He is a science and mathematics teacher and owns a farm and a herd of registered highland cattle.

Van Explodes, Burns But Driver Escapes

NANAIMO—Ronald Foulks of Harewood District had a narrow escape from death yesterday afternoon when his foreign van loaded with hydraulic and diesel fuel exploded and caught fire, about three miles north of town.

While fire trucks from Nanaimo sped to the rescue, three barrels of fuel were thrown clear. Three loaded hydraulic fuel tanks were still in the van but failed to explode.

The van was a total loss.

Car That Swims

Double Take at Elk Lake

By DON GAIN

Swimmers and boaters at Elk Lake did a double-take this week when they saw a trim convertible car skimming along the surface of the water.

"You're on the wrong road!" someone shouted at seeing the car's front wheels, partially visible above the water.

When the car was driven up on the beach it brought squeals of delight from young bathers who flocked around it to get a better look.

"Boy, that's nice," trilled one little boy. "I'll bet it costs a million dollars."

The amphibious vehicle is an Amphicar, "the car that swims," built in West Berlin by Industrie-Werke Karlsruhe, with a Mercedes-Benz body and a Triumph engine.

Capable of cruising speeds of 50 miles an hour and 10 knots, it rides comfortably on land and water, is said to be untippable.

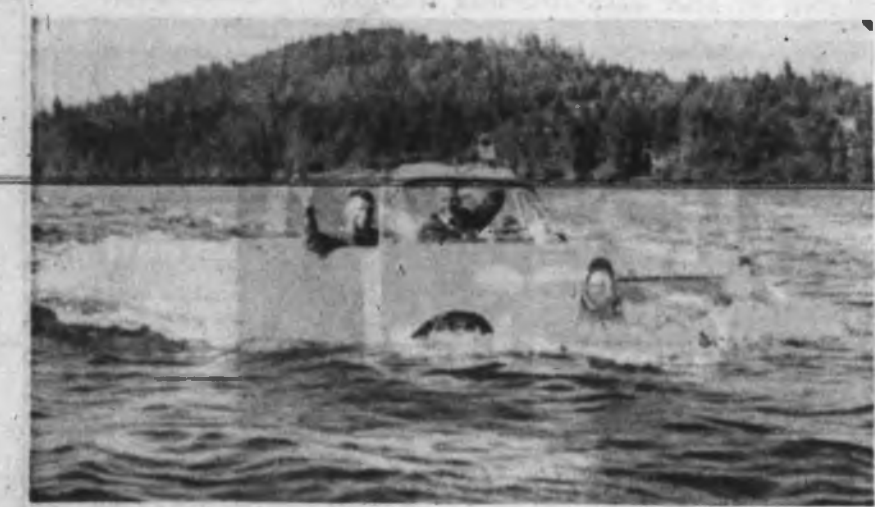

One recently made the trip from Vancouver to Swartz Bay by water, in three hours, according to Richard Bowden, who came from Vancouver to introduce the vehicle to Victoria.

On the highway it looks like the usual compact convertible unless you view it from the rear and see the two propellers between the rear wheels.

In the water it looks, well, different.

There are a few points to remember. It requires both car and boat licences. It has a plug which had better be in place when you take to the water.

And, if you have more than one car, just remember to take the right one when you head for the beach.

Premier Bennett said yesterday the split-up of the national Social Credit party will be forerunner of similar predicaments in other federal parties.

"We will need a lot of tolerance on the part of all Canadians if Canada is to be held together," he said.

Election Timing Bad

Bennett Fights for Political Life

By TERRY HAMMOND
Colonist Legislative Reporter

Premier Bennett is fighting for his political life.

He faces his fifth general election as party leader with practically nothing going for him of basic grassroots appeal.

The election timing is awry—forced on him by the delicate state of negotiations with the U.S. over the price to be paid for B.C.'s downstream Columbia River power. Traditionally an election follows a legislative session designed to set the stage for it.

The massive road construction programs which lit the fuse of victory for the Bennett government in 1956 and 1960 are drawing to a close. Much of the lustre of sick, new, blacktop is wearing off.

So far, the vast hydro projects in progress or on the drawing board have failed to kindle a spark across a broad segment of the electoral spectrum. Most people relate power to the wall-switch and are no longer enthralled when the light comes on. In any case, the power controversy has so clouded the issues that only a small percentage of the electorate holds firm beliefs either pro or con.

The ever-expanding ferry service is of purely regional interest and much of its novelty is gone.

A major blueprint for expansion of higher education facilities is comprehensive but it is still little more than a blueprint and against its potential popularity must be weighed the criticism that the government has short-changed UBC to the extent that its effectiveness is threatened.

The Left judgment on the B.C. expropriation hardly improved the government's image, although it probably did less harm than some opposition party leaders seem to believe. One of the greatest handi-

Sleeping Sickness Kills and Spreads

CALGARY, Alta. (UPI)—An unidentified woman died in Calgary General Hospital of encephalitis Thursday night and a four-year-old boy has been stricken with symptoms of the disease.

Dr. J. Francis said the Calgary victim had not died from equine encephalitis, commonly known as sleeping sickness, which has stricken horses in all three prairie provinces.

A Regina dentist died of a disease similar to equine encephalitis and at least six children in Saskatchewan, two more persons in Alberta and four in North Dakota are believed to have the disease.

Dr. Francis, who declined to give the woman's name, said she was admitted to hospital nine days ago complaining of flu, a headache and a sore back.

He said the woman had not been away from Calgary for some time. The closest infection in horses is in the Drumheller region, about 30 miles northeast of here.

Earlier it was reported a four-year-old boy had come down with what was suspected to be sleeping sickness in the Brooks, Alta., area—100 miles northeast of here and about 75 miles from Hanna—where a farmer has been in hospital with the disease.

It was reported last week that 50 persons throughout Saskatchewan have been hospitalized for symptoms similar to those of sleeping sickness.

200 Jets Built

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada's Limited of Montreal has completed production of 200 CF-104 low-level nuclear jet bombers for the RCAF air division in Europe and has started assembly of about 130 CF-104s for the U.S. mutual aid program. It was learned here Wednesday.

'Confused, Biased'

Glassco Report Hit

OTTAWA (CP)—A former president of the Institute of Public Administration of Canada has riddled the Glassco report on government administration with a salvo of criticism.

Thomas McLeod, dean of the College of Commerce of the University of Saskatchewan, attacked the five-volume report of the Glassco royal commission as illogical, ill-conceived, confused, biased, unscientific, pragmatic and inadequate.

His scathing critique was applauded enthusiastically Thursday by senior Canadian administrators at the start of a three-day convention of the Institute of Public Administrators.

George F. Davidson, deputy head of the federal government's new bureau of government organization, told the convention he found himself in "substantial agreement" with many of Dean McLeod's remarks.

GOOD BY CHANCE
Dean McLeod said he saw some good in the report, but he implied this happened more by accident than by intent.

"If you load your musket with sufficient buckshot, poke it into the impenetrable woods and pull the trigger you are bound to hit something," he said. "But this does not prove that you have either a keen eye or a steady hand."

Communists Trade Punches

TOKYO (CP)—Communist China has accused the Soviet Union of marshaling tens of thousands of Chinese for a political Trojan horse uprising aimed at overthrowing a Chinese district government in Sinkiang province on Russia's central Asian border.

The Chinese reported the alleged plot in broadcasts today which also said the Soviet Union's actions have brought relations between the two countries "to the brink of split."

In Moscow, the Soviet press yesterday denounced the "ultra-revolutionary" and "militant" policies of Communist China while the Kremlin was reported studying a protest from Peking over a student demonstration at the Chinese embassy in Moscow.

Hit-Run Death

MOTORIST CHARGED

By BOB PETHICK

A voluntary phone call shortly after 12:30 p.m. yesterday ended a vast search for the driver of a car believed responsible for the hit-and-run death of Mrs. Anna Neilson, 470 Thetis Crescent, early Wednesday.

Mrs. Neilson was hit by a car on the Trans-Canada Highway at about 12:30 a.m. She died instantly.

The body of the mother of five children was knocked into a 20-foot ditch between Tillam and Burnside and was found by Saanich police Corp. Robert Petersen about 4:30 a.m. after a truck driver spotted personal effects scattered for about 150 feet along the highway.

Yesterday's telephone call was received by Saanich Det.

Sgt. Joseph Armstrong who immediately went to the caller's home and impounded his car. It was towed to the Saanich police garage.

Stanley Ralph Hansen Jr., 2120 Millstream, appeared in Saanich magistrate's court at 3 p.m. yesterday charged with failing to remain at the scene of an accident and was remanded without election or plea until Sept. 12.

Saanich prosecutor Kenneth Murphy told the court the

Christine Keeler Arrested

LONDON (UPI)—Christine Keeler, 21-year-old red head whose testimony helped convict Dr. Stephen Ward of vice charges in a sex-and-security scandal that rocked the British government, was arrested Thursday night on charges of perjury and obstructing the course of justice.

Miss Keeler's long-time friend, Paula Hamilton-Marshall, and Miss Marshall's housekeeper, Mrs. Olive Brooker, were booked on the same charges.

Mrs. Brooker was carrying a 16-month-old baby identified as Miss Hamilton-Marshall's daughter. The infant was taken to a children's home.

Police said the women were arrested in connection with the case of Christine's former lover, Aloysius (Lucky) Gordon, 31-year-old Jamaican jazz singer, who was sentenced to three years for beating up Miss Keeler and then freed after an appeal.

De Gaulle Out to Crush U.S. Power in Viet Nam

Diem Is Boss

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP)—President Ngo Dinh Diem and his hollow-cheeked younger brother, Ngo Dinh Nhu, told reporters in separate interviews Thursday that Diem is the boss.

Both the 62-year-old chief executive and his brother, the secret police chief whose petite wife is the president's official hostess, denied Nhu controlled the government. Each said Nhu has no political ambitions.

Both expressed hope for a quick return to normal from South Viet Nam's political-religious crisis. Both forecast an improvement in the strained relations between Viet Nam and the United States, its ally in a war against Communist guerrillas.

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York Times reports from Saigon that the French have been playing a major anti-American role since President de Gaulle offered last week to help South Viet Nam end foreign influence.

De Gaulle's offer was reported to have received a highly favorable response from Ngo Dinh Nhu, brother and adviser to President Ngo Dinh Diem, the Times says.

SOFTEN CRITICISM
The Times quotes a senior diplomat as saying French Ambassador Roger Lalouette approached other Western embassies to join in an effort to persuade U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge to soften U.S. criticism of Diem's government.

RE-ESTABLISH
"Diplomats say that the purpose of Gen. de Gaulle's intervention is to end United States influence in Viet Nam, to find a means of reconciliation between the Communist-ruled north and the non-Communist south and to re-establish the influence once enjoyed by France in all of Viet Nam," the dispatch continues.
